

NIGHTMARE ON 15th Street

Edgar Blake, Aniyah Robertson, Laila Lamb

Happy Halloween Eagles! As the air grows crisper and the leaves transform into a vibrant canvas, we're officially ready for a super fun spooky season! We've talked to your fellow students and teachers to get the inside scoop on what makes Halloween special for them, and they had so much to share. Stay tuned for a peek at the cherished traditions and thrilling scares that define our school's Halloween spirit!

Ms. Freeman, our World History, Gen. U.S History, and AP African American Studies teacher, has a sweet spot for the holiday, but not for all the sweets—she emphatically does not like candy corn! Her favorite memory is the simple joy of trick-or-treating with her mom, and her favorite part of the day remains getting candy. For a real fright, she points to the time she braved about the Plantation Blood Haunted House. If she could choose a fictional companion for the night, she'd spend it with the hilarious Brenda from Scary Movie.

Our 10th grade class had some great ories, too! KaMiya Luke recalled a memorable, yet accidental, scare:

"My favorite Halloween memory was when I went out trick-or-treating and saw a boy dressed as Pennywise. He kept walking around the street, stopping and just looking around in a creepy way. I think he was actually looking for his family, but he ended up scaring everyone by accident. It was funny though!" KaMiya's strategy for a successful haul is to "Go a little early and head to a good neighborhood where the houses give out the most candy." Her scariest moment was when she encountered a supposed Michael Myers figure in a yard that turned out to be a cleverly still person: "I thought it was just decoration because it wasn't moving, but when I got close, it jumped at me. I screamed and I was really scared to get back in line." For movie night, she recommends Monster House or The Nightmare Before Christmas. But her absolute favorite part of Halloween is getting ready: "I love putting on my costume and seeing the final look come together."

For a fictional fashion consultant, she'd pick Fancy Nancy to help her with an ultra-creative costume. Ms. Stokes, who teaches Literature, takes us back to her teenage years for her favorite memory: "the one time when I dressed in a costume. I believe I was about 15 years old and wanted to look like a princess. My dress was pink, and that is all I remember. The best part was my coming home with chocolate candy!" Chocolate candy, in fact, is her favorite part of the entire holiday. For a true fright, she recalled watching a movie with her sister and niece about a one-armed man with a hatchet, which was so scary they slept in the den, convinced he would break in. As a Literature expert, she names Edgar Allan Poe as the number one scary writer and suggests his poem The Tell-Tale Heart for a Halloween read.

TEACHER SPOTLIGHT

● Coach Nichelle Chapman ●

Narrissa Williams

Coach Chapman is a vibrant force of energy and inspiration. Her deep love for sports and working with kids shines through every day as she gets to do what she loves—play, coach, and stay active—all while shaping young lives. Whether she's leading drills on the court or encouraging students in the classroom, her passion is contagious. In 2018, she was honored as Teacher of the Year at the alternative school, a testament to her dedication and impact. One of her proudest achievements came when she coached the girls basketball team to a state championship, a moment that reflected years of hard work, leadership, and belief in her players.

Beyond the gym, Coach Chapman is an avid reader and a curious traveler, always seeking new places and perspectives to bring back to her students. Her advice to anyone who wants to follow in her footsteps is simple but powerful: "Love what you do, and the energy will follow." She encourages future coaches and educators to stay committed, be patient, and never underestimate the power of showing up with enthusiasm. For her, teaching and coaching aren't just jobs—they're opportunities to make a lasting difference while living a life full of movement, meaning, and joy.

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

⇒ CHAR'MAYA GILLIANS & TRISTAN WILLIAMS ⇐

LAILA LAMB AND XAVIAN WILSON

This year, T.W. Josey High School homecoming crowned Char'Myah Gillians, an accomplished senior student. As a senior, Char'Myah is an honor student and takes college courses. Moreover, "I am a proud member of the T.W. Josey band and engaged in several other school-related activities". Char'Myah described her Josey experience as "great and at the same time a little challenging," which is what any high school would say. However, it is evident that she has embraced those challenges and emerged as a highly successful person. What did Char'Myan say about being chosen as Homecoming Queen? It feels great! "Forever grateful and thankful to everyone who supported me," she said. Her words emphasize the importance of this victory not only for her but also for all the people who supported her. Congratulations to Char'Myan Gillians on this well-deserved recognition.

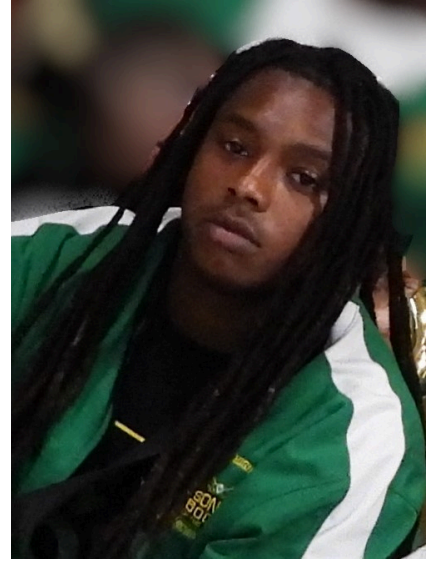

▣SENIOR SPOTLIGHT▣

⇒CHAR'MAYA GILLIANS & TRISTAN WILLIAMS⇐

LAILA LAMB AND XAVIAN WILSON

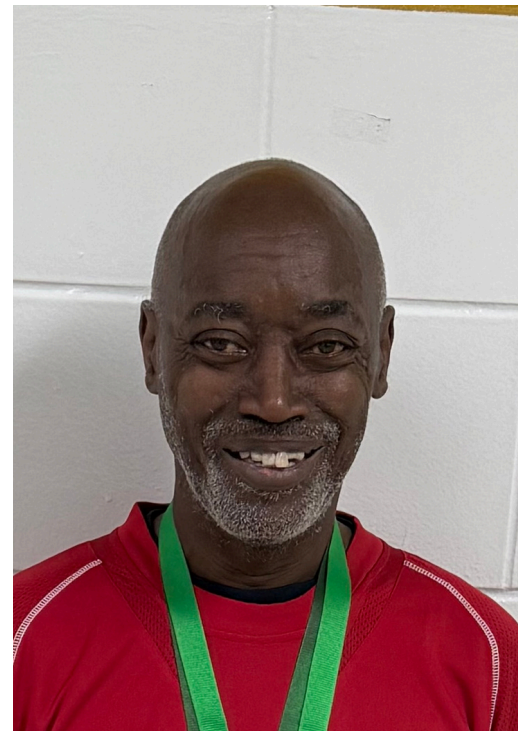

T.W. Josey High School is proud to Spotlight Tristan Williams, a dedicated senior whose commitment to excellence shines both in and out of the classroom. Tristan currently serves as the section leader for the woodwinds in the Sonic Boom of the South, a position that has strengthened his leadership, teamwork, and sense of responsibility. Maintaining an impressive 3.5 GPA, Tristan continues to balance academics, music, and involvement with grace and determination. His peers and teachers alike admire his positive attitude and ability to lead by example. This year, his hard work and school spirit were recognized when he was crowned the 2025-2026 Homecoming King, a well-deserved honor for a student who truly represents Eagle pride. Looking toward the future, Tristan plans to attend Fort Valley State University, where he will major in Computer Science while continuing his musical journey with hopes of earning a full band scholarship. His passion, dedication, and drive make him a shining example of what it means to be a Josey Eagle.

This year, his hard work and school spirit were recognized when he was crowned the 2025-2026 Homecoming King, a well-deserved honor for a student who truly represents Eagle pride. Looking toward the future, Tristan plans to attend Fort Valley State University, where he will major in Computer Science while continuing his musical journey with hopes of earning a full band scholarship. His passion, dedication, and drive make him a shining example of what it means to be a Josey Eagle..

STAFF SPOTLIGHT: ROY POWELL

T.W. Josey is proud to shine its staff spotlight on Mr. Roy, one of the school's beloved custodians. A dedicated worker who is driven by keeping everything repaired, working, and, most importantly, clean, Mr. Roy takes great pride in his work and is honored to be recognized. In his free time, he enjoys watching anime and reading books, and he also has a surprising talent for changing his voice. For those considering a similar career path, his advice is simple but wise: have patience.

Entertainment

The Conjuring series vs Scream series

by Jade and Jayda Galliard

Which is more terrifying a demon you can't see or a killer who's standing right behind you? When it comes to horror movies, two legendary franchises stand out making the audience scream for a completely different reasons.

The Conjuring and Scream, one summons ghost and demon from darkest corners of supernatural while the other turns everyday highschoolers into terrified targets of a masked killer. The Conjuring creeps under your skin with its chilling true stories and eerie atmosphere, while Scream keeps you on edge with its sharp humor, clever twist, and iconic "Ghostface" calls. Together they represent the two sides of horror, one born from paranormal, the other from pure madness.

The Conjuring is morally based on real haunted houses, while Scream is always a group of teenagers like Sidney Prescott and her friends facing a mysterious masked killer.

Horror fans love to debate which series reigns supreme, and The Conjuring and Scream sit in two totally different corners of the spooky universe. The Conjuring movies creep around the realm of the paranormal, where demon lurk in shadows and real-life ghost hunters Ed and Lorraine Warren try to protect families from evil forces.

These films lean into slow building dread, eerie silence, and sudden supernatural attacks that made the audience clutch the nearest pillow. They feel like stepping into a haunted house won't let you out, diving into the unknown where terror comes from things you can't see or understand. With its cursed artifacts of spirit realms, and sinister possession stories, The Conjuring is all about pure, chilling suspense and the fear that something otherworldly has eyes on you. Scream slices in with different kinds of horror killers in masks who hide in plain sight. Instead of ghosts, it tackles the horror lurking in everyday people, twisting familiar slasher tropes with sharp self-aware humor. Ghostface taunts victims through phone calls, mocks horror cliches, and keeps viewers guessing who the killer really is.

The tension comes from paranoia; anyone could be the murderer, and every friend might be the next betrayer. Scream blends suspense with wit, making you laugh one moment and jump out your seat. Where The Conjuring summons demons from the dark, Scream exposes the monster hiding behind familiar faces, proving that sometimes the scariest thing isn't the supernatural, but the person standing right beside you.

The Conjuring terrifies with demonic forces that feel unstoppable and unseen, while Scream strikes with human danger that feels frighteningly real. Each series rules its own fear of kingdom, one whisper nightmares into the silence of the unknown; the other turns trust into a deadly guessing game. Whether you prefer ghosts or masked killers, both franchises prove that horror can haunt us in different ways, leaving viewers checking shadows, locking doors, and realizing that true terror has many faces.

Eagle Enchantments : Haunted Runway

by Narrissa Williams

Halloween at T.W. Josey High School is more than just costumes and candy—it's a vibrant celebration of creativity, identity, and fashion. As October rolls in, the hallways of Josey transform into a runway of bold self-expression, where students blend traditional spooky themes with modern style trends to create unforgettable looks.

In past years, Hi5alloween fashion at Josey has evolved from store-bought costumes to personalized, DIY ensembles that reflect both pop culture and individuality. Students are no longer content with generic superhero suits or plastic masks. Instead, they repurpose thrifted clothing, experiment with makeup, and coordinate group outfits inspired by viral TikTok challenges, TV shows, and nostalgic characters. This shift mirrors a national trend in high schools, where Halloween has become a platform for fashion-forward statements.

Josey's spirit wear also plays a role in the seasonal style. With access to custom hoodies, tees, and accessories featuring the Eagles mascot, students often incorporate school pride into their Halloween attire. Whether it's a zombie football player in a Josey jersey or a glam vampire rocking a school hoodie, the fusion of costume and campus identity adds a unique flair to the festivities.

Ultimately, Halloween at T.W. Josey High is a reflection of the students themselves: bold, expressive, and unapologetically original. As fashion continues to evolve, so too will the ways Josey students use Halloween to showcase their style, celebrate their culture, and bring their imaginations to life. The rise of themed group costumes has further amplified the fashion scene. Friends plan weeks in advance to coordinate outfits that not only match but tell a story—turning the school into a living storyboard of pop culture references and creative twists. This collective approach fosters a sense of community spirit and encourages collaboration, making Halloween a highlight of the school year.

By Ny'Asia Bell

OUT BACK STEAK HOUSE: THE BEST PLACE EVER

Whether it's date night or just a night out on the town with friends, stop by Outback. They are located at 2949 Washington Rd. This place was Great! From the cleanliness of the restaurant to servers and the delicious food. Let's talk about the set up. The decor is just right. Not too much and just cozy. It is in a great location. Just enough room to sit and enjoy your meal. The lighting is perfect. The server is Fiona, was great! There wasn't nothing she did not know about the menus. From the to the drinks, She was able to recommend some great options. She was so Kind and Bubbly. You could tell she love what she does! We started with on appetizer. The blooming onion was nice and golden. It was fried to perfection. The dipping sauce was a great blend of spices, you could eat the onion alone but the sauce was Such a Bonus. While waiting on The entree we had a few drinks. They were ok. I've had better, but they weren't the worst. Now to the entree. I went with the 13oz Ribeye and fried Shrimp combo. The Ribeye was seared to perfection. It was topped with the most amazing garlic butter glaze melt in your mouth tenderness. The shrimp were crispy and golden. They went well with The Ribeye. The fresh steamed broccoli was a perfect match. It was still a vibrant green, adding some color to the plate. It was perfectly steamed. This meal was amazing! You can tell the chef cooks with love. From the work of art on each plate to the deliciousness in every bite! Outback is definitely an awesome place to dine. I will be Returning! If you haven't tried it, put it on your list to-do!

SPOOKY SEASONS ACROSS CULTURES

By: Mayrin Montoya

October rolls around, pumpkins, costumes, and haunted houses start popping up everywhere. Halloween might be the highlight in the United States, but other countries also have their own unique ways of celebrating the spooky season. From honoring ancestors to warding off spirits.

In Mexico, on November 1st and 2nd, The Day of the Dead is celebrated (Dia de los Muertos). Families create "ofrendas" which are altars decorated with photos, candles, flowers, and food to honor loved ones who passed away. Some go and decorate their graves as an altar. The holiday isn't supposed to be sad, it's a celebration of life and memory, a day meant to reminisce on times with your loved ones.

In Japan, Obon Festival is held in August, though it shares a similar purpose to Halloween. Honoring spirits of ancestors. Families light lanterns to guide spirits home and then back to the afterlife. There are Bon Odori dances performed in many towns as part of the celebration. It's believed that during Obon, the boundary between worlds becomes thinner

In Ireland, Halloween started over 2,000 years ago as the Celtic festival of Samhain. Samhain marked the end of the harvest and the start of winter, when people believed spirits could cross into the human world. People carved turnips (not pumpkins!) to scare away ghosts, a tradition that evolved into pumpkin carving when Irish immigrants came to America.

No matter where you are in the world, the spooky season connects people through tradition, memory, and imagination. Whether it's honoring ancestors in Japan, celebrating life like in Mexico, or dressing up for Halloween in the U.S., each culture puts its own twist on this time of year.

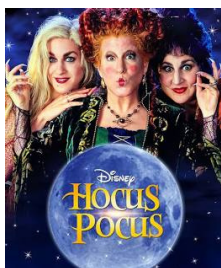

OPINION

THE TOP 5 BEST HALLOWEEN MOVIES TO GET YOU IN THE SPOOKY SPIRIT

By Morgan Frazier

As the air turns crisp and the pumpkins start to glow, it's officially spooky season! Halloween isn't just about candy and costumes — it's also the best time to curl up with a good movie. Whether you love jump scares, laughs, or magical adventures, these top five Halloween movies will set the perfect mood for October. Below are the five best picks, chosen for their lasting impact, creative storytelling, and pure Halloween energy — with reviews and ratings from fans and critics alike.

1. Hocus Pocus (1993)

You can't go wrong starting with this classic. When the mischievous Sanderson sisters — Winifred, Sarah, and Mary — are accidentally resurrected on Halloween night, a group of kids and one talking cat must stop them before they steal the souls of Salem's children. Hocus Pocus has become a Halloween tradition for families everywhere. It's funny, magical, and full of charm — the perfect movie to watch with friends or younger siblings.

Review: "A fun, family-friendly movie that's full of Halloween magic and nostalgia." — Rotten Tomatoes

Rating: 4.5/5 for humor, creativity, and that unforgettable Halloween vibe.

2. Halloween (1978)

If you like your Halloween movies with more screams than spells, Halloween is a must-watch. This film introduced the world to Michael Myers, the masked killer who silently stalks his victims through dark suburban streets.

The movie's eerie music and slow, suspenseful pacing made it one of the most influential horror films ever made. Even today, it still sends chills down your spine.

Review: "A masterclass in suspense that changed horror forever." — IMDb

Rating: 5/5 for tension, horror legacy, and iconic scares.

3. The Nightmare Before Christmas (1993)

From the brilliant mind of Tim Burton, The Nightmare Before Christmas combines two holidays into one unforgettable story. Jack Skellington, the Pumpkin King of Halloween Town, becomes fascinated with Christmas and decides to take it over — with hilarious and haunting results

The movie's stop-motion animation and hauntingly catchy songs make it stand out as both spooky and heartwarming. Whether you watch it in October or December, it always delivers that cozy, eerie feeling.

Review: "A visually beautiful and hauntingly sweet story that captures the spirit of both holidays." –

Common Sense Media

Rating: 4.8/5 for art, music, and originality.

4. Coraline (2009)

Don't be fooled by its animation — Coraline is creepier than it looks. When a curious girl discovers a secret door in her new house, she enters a world that seems perfect at first... until she meets her "Other Mother," who has buttons for eyes.

The movie mixes fantasy and horror in a way that keeps both kids and adults on edge. The visuals are stunning, the story is unique, and the atmosphere is chilling — perfect for anyone who loves a mysterious thrill.

Review: "Clever, creepy, and completely captivating. A modern Halloween essential." – The Guardian

Rating: 4.7/5 for creativity, suspense, and eerie storytelling.

5. Beetlejuice (1988)

Last but definitely not least, Beetlejuice is pure chaos — in the best way possible. When a couple dies and becomes ghosts trapped in their own home, they call on the wild "bio-exorcist" Beetlejuice to scare off the new owners. But, as always, Beetlejuice takes things way too far.

This Tim Burton classic is packed with weird humor, imaginative design, and over-the-top fun. It's not scary in a nightmare way — more like spooky fun that keeps you laughing

. Review: "Funny, strange, and delightfully spooky — a perfect Halloween classic." – Variety

Rating: 4.6/5 for comedy, creativity, and Burton-style weirdness.

From witches and ghosts to monsters and magic, these movies capture everything we love about Halloween. Each one brings a different kind of thrill — whether it's laughs, chills, or a bit of both.

So, light a candle, grab a blanket, and make some popcorn. Invite a few friends, turn off the lights, and get ready for a night full of fun, frights, and maybe a few screams. No matter which movie you choose, these Halloween hits will make your October nights unforgettable.

Finding Myself in The Halls

by Candice Wright

Walking through the halls of my school, I realized it is more than just a place to learn. It is where I started discovering who I am, what I care about, and who I want to become. School means more to me than just a place where I go to learn math, science, or history. It is a space where I discover who I am, what I enjoy, and what I want my future to look like. It is where I have learned how to communicate with others, overcome challenges, and build confidence in myself.

To me, school represents an opportunity. It gives me access to knowledge and experiences that can help shape the rest of my life. Through my teachers, I have gained lessons that go far beyond the classroom—lessons about responsibility, respect, and perseverance. Even on days when school feels stressful or tiring, I remind myself that the education I am getting now will open doors later, whether it is for college, a career, or something I have not even discovered yet.

Interview statements:

What does school personally mean to you?

Ethan V. It personally means learning and getting ahead in life and doing what you need to get done.

Aniyis B. School personally means learning and meeting new people around me

Breana W. School to me means getting a education

How has school helped you grow as a person?

Ethan V. It has helped me figure out what I want to do after high school

Aniyis B. School has helped me grow as a person by joining the program Afjrotc and it helped me with my attitude and communication

Breana W. It has helped me with discipline

What is a lesson you have learned in school that is not from a textbook?

Ethan V. I have learned that everybody is not real Aniyis B. To never give up and to always keep going

Breana W. I have learned that

School is also a place of connection. It is where I have made friends who motivate me, challenge me, and help me through tough times. Working with others on projects or sports teams has taught me the importance of teamwork and communication. These experiences have helped me come out of my comfort zone and realize that learning does not just happen from books—it happens through people too.

Beyond grades and lessons, school is where I grow. Every mistake I make, every test I study for, and every goal I set helps me become a better version of myself. It is not always easy, but it is worth it. School is preparing me for the real world, giving me the tools and confidence I need to face it.

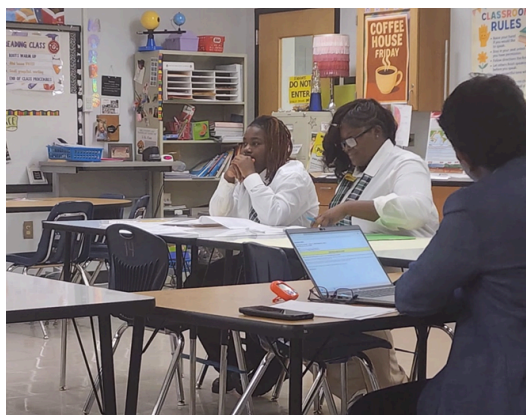

SPORT NEWS

T.W. Josey High School Soars at Their First Debate Tournament of the Year

By Morgan Frazier

The members of T.W. Josey High School's Debate Team took flight this past weekend at their very first debate tournament of the year. The team made up of De Naya Oliver, Jamiah Johnson, Khia Stokes, Khiley Lamb, Sariah Danvers, Bredajah Wallace, Breana Wilson, and Allison Saravia arrived nervous but determined to represent the nest with pride.

Before the tournament began, the group admitted that their nerves were wrecked. Many of them weren't sure what to expect, and some even confessed they hadn't prepared quite as much as they should have. "We were all just trying to calm each other down," one member said. "But once we got there, we realized it wasn't as scary as we thought."

After the first round, reality hit hard. Some of the Josey debaters said they got "chewed about the frame" by their opponents, as one competitor "was just spitting facts" nonstop. "We were like, oh my goodness!" They laughed. But instead of letting that shake them, the Eagles came back for the second round ready to "chew back." This time, they found their rhythm and delivered strong, confident performances that left a lasting impression.

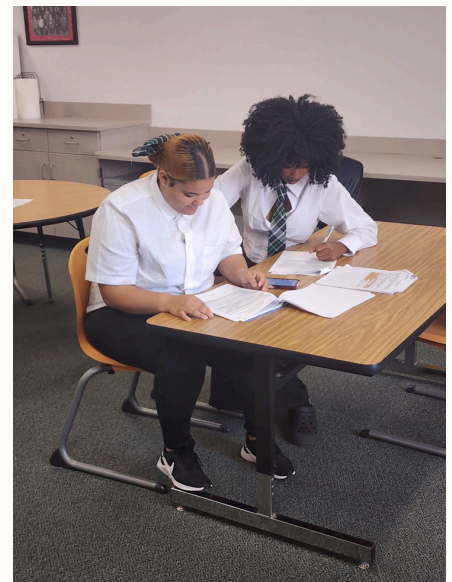

One standout of the day was Khia Stokes, who proudly brought home a medal. Khia shared that she was extremely nervous going in. "I didn't really know what to expect," she said. "Honestly, I didn't prepare like I should have or read over the packet enough. But once I got in there, I realized I knew what I was talking about. So, I just went at it." And "going at it" she did Khia give it to her all and brought something special back to the nest.

Throughout the entire event, Miss Patterson, the team's dedicated coach, was by their side. She made sure every student had what they needed, balanced countless responsibilities, and never stopped encouraging her team. Her passion, patience, and leadership shined throughout the whole day. The students describe her as "a true warrior and a natural-born coach." By the end of the tournament, the T.W. Josey Eagles learned valuable lessons about preparation, teamwork, and confidence. They left feeling proud, accomplished, and excited for what's next. As one student put it, "We had so much fun. Now that we know what to expect, the next one we're coming even stronger."

The Eagles have officially found their voice and this is just the beginning of what promises to be an exciting debate season.

Soccer: The Best Sport Ever

By Gabriel Ramos

Why should some people like playing soccer? There are a lot of good reasons why people should try out for playing soccer even then they never play soccer before just try your best and gave everything you got out there improves cardiovascular for your health and if you keep practicing you can get better ever time 3 hours of a day or less keep work on your pass and kick and it's a great way to stay in fit without feeling like a chore and quick turns build strong and flexible muscles you can change a lot for play to think quickly self if you do that you will self and make a point for you team.

RIFLE TEAM FOR THE WIN: CONGRATULATIONS AFJROTC

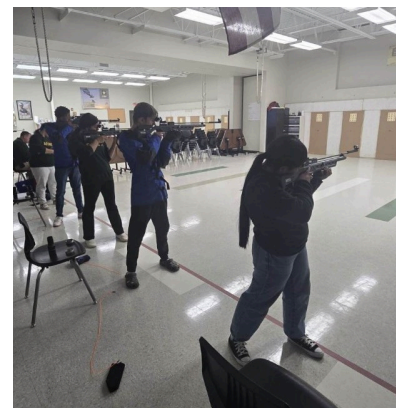

Laila Lamb

The T.W. Josey High School AFJROTC Rifle Team kicked off their season with a decisive victory over Clarke Central High School JROTC, winning their first match 907-650. Every team member scored over 200 points, with eleventh grader Kaiden Wills, also known as "Salt," leading the competition with an outstanding 244 points.

Lt Col Kurt expressed his satisfaction with the win and is aiming for consistent scores of around 900 points and at least win five matches this season. MSgt Holt acknowledged the team's hard work and its evident results.

Overall Commander Alisson Saravia expressed pride in her teammates and anticipates a successful year. Rifle Team Commander Kaiden Wills ("Salt") emphasized the team's goal of proving their potential through dedicated effort, with reaching the playoffs being a key aspiration.

SCHOOL SUBMISSIONS

BEAN STACK CHALLENGE

Top Beanstack Readers for September!

Congratulations to our Top Beanstack Readers for the month of September — Dinah Williams, Anna Marie Melchor Douglas, and Olivia Roark, as well as the Senior Class logged the most minutes! These students have shown an amazing commitment to reading and lifelong learning. Keep turning those pages and setting the standard for excellence!

Life in the U.S. Air Force by Douglas Hustad
Ever wondered what it's really like to serve in the Air Force? This book takes you behind the scenes of daily life in one of America's most elite military branches — from training and teamwork to high-tech missions around the world.

Shackled: a tale of wronged kids, rogue judges, and a town that looked away by Candy J. Cooper

What happens when the people meant to protect kids are the ones hurting them? Shackled tells the shocking true story of two judges who sent kids to jail for profit — and the fight to expose their corruption. A real-life story you won't believe actually happened.

Knowvember Spotlights:

To Walk the Sky by Patricia Morris Buckley
Ever wondered what it's like to walk hundreds of feet in the air on a steel beam — with nothing but air beneath your feet? To Walk the Sky tells the true story of Native American "Skywalkers," brave steelworkers who helped build some of the tallest skyscrapers in America. It's full of daring feats, heart-pounding moments, and real-life heroes who faced incredible challenges every day.

This Knowvember, we're celebrating the power of nonfiction — real stories that inspire, inform, and ignite curiosity! Come check out our nonfiction spotlight books and "Read Grateful, Know More!"

MS. C SAYS... HEY EAGLES

Let's talk about something everyone wants but few people plan for—success. The truth is, success in high school isn't just about being the smartest person in the room or getting straight A's. It's about creating habits, mindset, and balance that help you grow into the best version of yourself. Here are a few real-world tips to help you soar:

1. Define Success for Yourself

Success doesn't look the same for everyone. For one person, it might be getting into college; for another, it might be improving grades or becoming a team captain. Set personal goals that make sense for your life—not what others expect of you. Write them down and revisit them often.

2. Stay Organized

Between homework, sports, clubs, and social life, it's easy to feel overwhelmed. Use a planner or your phone calendar to track assignments and deadlines. Staying organized reduces stress and helps you manage your time like a pro.

3. Build Relationships

Get to know your teachers, classmates, and mentors. They can open doors, provide guidance, and cheer you on when things get tough. Don't be afraid to ask questions or seek help—it shows maturity, not weakness.

4. Stay Consistent, Not Perfect

Success isn't about doing everything right; it's about showing up even when it's hard. Whether it's studying a little every night or committing to practice, consistency beats perfection every time.

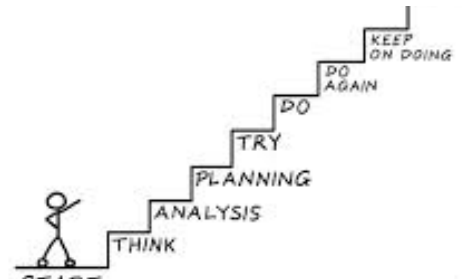

5. Take Care of Yourself

Your mental and physical health are part of your success story. Sleep well, eat right, and permit yourself to rest. You can't pour from an empty cup.

6. Believe in the Process

High school is only the beginning. Mistakes and setbacks are part of learning. Every quiz, every game, every challenge is helping you build skills for the future. Please keep an eye on the bigger picture. Remember—success isn't a destination, it's a journey. Stay focused, stay kind, and keep flying high, Eagles!

Have a question for "Ask Ms. C"? Drop it in the advice box in Room 306 or come see Ms. Crawford and ask yourself?

Unnormal Mew

Picture Day
 November 5, 2025
 show up and show out, Eagles! Let take our pictures together

 Make-up Picture Day
November 17, 2025
Missed the first one, don't worry. There is another day to show up and show out.

 Trial Ride Get Down
November 20, 2025
Come get down with the Journalism Club as they raise funds to help with 25-26 Yearbook!!!!

Yearbook Flash

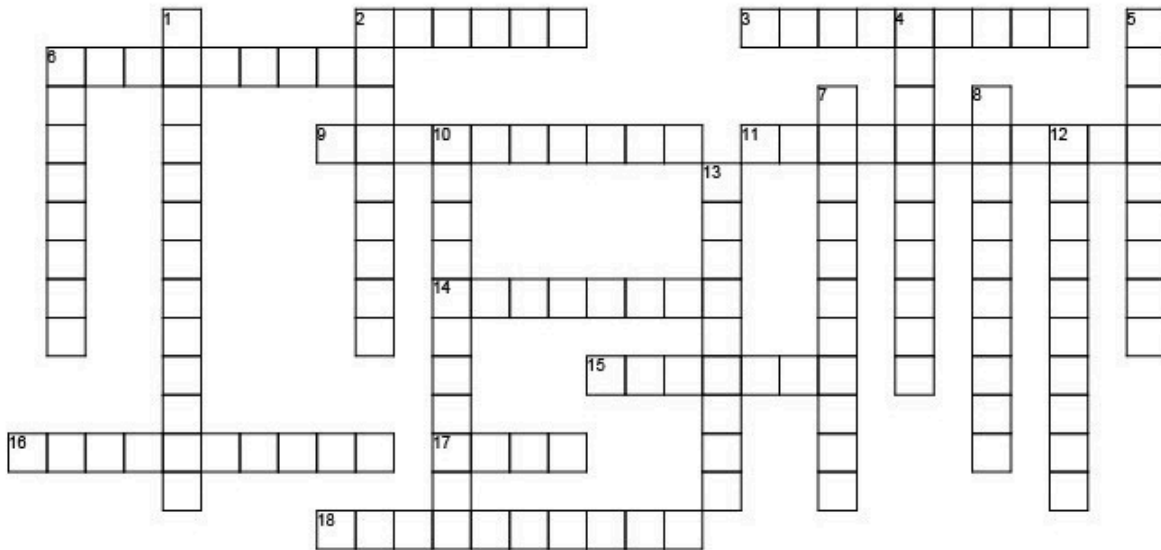

November 21, 2025

One Day only sale!!!! 20 % off your yearbook orders and ad. Taking Payments
all day

Eagle News Month Crossword

1. Using the Across and Down clues, write the correct words in the numbered grid below.

ACROSS

2. sanctuary
3. high praise
6. nameless
9. indirect, roundabout
11. able to see the future
14. agreeable
15. to criticize harshly
16. act of refraining from
17. extremely dry
18. friendly, helpful

DOWN

1. out-of-date
2. hard-working
4. shorten, abridge
5. pertaining to beauty
6. short account of event
7. trust among friends
8. sympathy, mercy
10. to work together
12. opponent
13. misfortune

amicable clairvoyant antagonist anonymous
abbreviate

arid aesthetic adulation abstinence benevolent

asylum adversity circuitous compassion anecdote camaraderie anachronistic assiduous censure

collaborate