2. DATA COLLECTION ANALYSIS

2.6 Data Analysis Questions

Analyze the LEA's data and answer the guiding questions to determine existing trends and patterns that support the identification of demographic and financial needs. Student subgroups with a count of less than 15 are denoted by "TFS" (too few students).

What perception data did you use? [examples: student perceptions about school climate issues (health survey, violence, prejudice, bullying, etc.); student/parent perceptions about the effectiveness of programs or interventions; student understanding of relationship of school to career or has an academic plan]	GA Wellness Survey for parents, staff and students Title 1 Parent Survey Panorama-students
What does the perception data tell you? (perception data can describe people's knowledge, attitudes, beliefs, perceptions, competencies; perception data can also answer the question "What do people think they know, believe, or can do?")	The perception data shows that most students in 3rd-5th grade feel that they like school and the school wants them to do well in school ( 83%). However, the perception of how students treat each other brought concern. Students indicated that students sometimes or never treat each other well and that students sometimes or never behave so that teachers can teach.
What process data did you use? (examples: student participation in school activities, sports, clubs, arts; student participation in special programs such as peer mediation, counseling, skills conferences; parent/student participation in events such as college information meetings and parent workshops)	Student/Parent participation in school events and activities (Schools Not Spooky Night, STEAM Night, Honors Day programs, Parent/Teacher conferences)
What does the process data tell you? (process data describes the way programs are conducted; provides evidence of participant involvement in programs; answers the question "What did you do for whom?")	The process data tells us that parents want to be involved in activities that are organized well, interactive, fun, and informative. Sign in sheets and pictures of events prove participation of parents and students. The process data shows that the programs were well planned, organized, interactive and well supported by parents, families, and community members.

What achievement data did you use?	iReady BOY, MOY, and EOY Diagnostic results in reading and math for grades K-5. GMAS data for grades 3-5 in reading, math and science.
What does your achievement data tell you?	iReady data shows that Overall Placement data increased from BOY to EOY in reading and math and that the number of students performing below level in reading and math decreased.
What demographic data did you use?	USHA Student Reports Demographic Report Detail Grade Gender Race Infinite Campus Reports School Dashboard
What does the demographic data tell you?	We had a total enrollment of 601 with 68 SPED students, 278 EIP, 26 Gifted, 15 ESOL.

3. NEEDS IDENTIFICATION AND ROOT CAUSE ANALYSIS

3.1 Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Read the trends and patterns summaries from each section of the data analysis process. Use the information in these summaries to complete 3.2 and 3.3. Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.2. Watch the Identifying Need webinar for additional information and guidance.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Coherent Instructional: Summarize the coherent instructional system trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Some of the important trends and patterns that were identified and will support the students, teachers, and leaders are: SPED and ESOL student subgroups performed at levels 1 and 2 and were consistently lower according to GMAS. Teacher and student attendance was a factor that could have contributed to lower performance.
Effective Leadership: Summarize the effective leadership trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	K-2 were able to more effectively maximize their intervention time and more attention to individualized student needs were more identifiable with self contained classes. Our Intervention block contributed to the positive gains in reading and math.
Professional Capacity: Summarize the professional capacity trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	We will use the iReady data to identify students performing one grade level behind (yellow) for EIP services. Teachers/Leaders will be identified for support or needs improvement by 24-25 EOY data on GMAS and/or iReady student achievement data.
Family and Community Engagement: Summarize the family and community engagement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	We have good parent and community engagement. Parents come out to participate in school wide events such as STEAM night, School's Not Spooky, and parent/teacher conferences. The community garden club works in our outdoor classroom to plant seeds, weed flower beds, update areas, and work with teachers and staff for outdoor classroom activities. We also partner with community programs such as: Loud Crowd after school program at WR Community Center, Released Time at Good
