A UNIQUE BLEND OF STAGES

Davdison is unique in that it represents many different stages of students ... not only in ages, but also in academics and in fine arts. Our school begins with 5th graders, new to the environment, class changes, and thirty-minute classes. Teachers begin molding them to the regimen that is well known to Davidson students: work and dedication. And they work hard, passing through the stages, overcoming obstacles, finding their strengths and overcoming their weaknesses for the finale ... the final performance.

A UNIQUE BLEND OF STYLES

DAVIDSON

Davidson is also unique in that it represents a blending of different styles. At Davidson, each student can be who he or she wants without worrying about being criticized or ostracized. Girls with punk haircuts and hiking boots blend with fellas in coat and tie. We all have a goal and style doesn't get in the way of individuals, their friendships, and their dedication to excellence.

A UNIQUE BLEND OF TALENTS

Obviously, Davidson is a blend of many different talents drawn together to create the smooth weave that is our school. The halls sound of the mellow tones of handbells, the fast-paced beat of aerobics, the smooth flow of a chemistry experiment, the soft thump-tap of ballet movements, and the discussion of theme and tone. Each student works towards his or her own goals, yet each has time to appreciate and support others in their endeavors.

THE HISTORY OF THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1987

We didn't think we would make it this far, but look where we are — finally! Four long, tiresome years of hard work, headaches, late nights, long days, loads of work and scores of tests — and we've enjoyed every minute of it! These are definitely four years that we will look back on with a feeling of fondness and amusement.

Our freshman year began with a class of 77 students, several of which were new to Davidson. That year certainly proved to be a great year, since Davidson was voted the number one magnet school in the nation!

We started the year off with a bang by having our first school dance in the large lunchroom. This event aided in the acquiring of new friendships and re-kindling of the old. Between the skips and pauses in music many new friendships and the fun flourished.

Do you remember when the National Honor Society sponsored the Halloween picture show? Wasn't it fun to see the end of a movie before seeing its beginning? And remember when Ignacio transformed himself into a living robot on Era Day of our spirit week? He was definitely our "tin man of the Nineties!"

Coming up to Christmas meant our journey to the Imperial Theater to see rehearsals of "The Nutcracker." What added to its appeal was the fact that some of our students were in it! Also, do you remember the very Christmasy Christmas formal dance that was held in the school annex? (That annex was to become the site of many a future dance.) We gave a door prize to the best-dressed couple. (If you remember, Monica and Charles walked away with that one.) The dance was very successful — with the exception of one thing (Remember the disappearing microphone?).

Our freshman year was also the year of our first dance troupe called "The Davidson Dancers," and of our first mime troupe, which consisted of six individuals and their alternates.

The end of the year seemed to arrive quickly, and we closed things out with the traditional, last-day-of-school talent show. As you would expect, tears were shed, but these were quickly dried as thoughts of summer and the new fall term came to mind.

Our sophomore year began with 54 students, five of whom were new to the school. Twenty-three students had decided to go their separate ways, and their departure didn't go unnoticed. Nevertheless, that second year began much like the first. There was more excitement, though, because we were then sophomores, which was only two grades away from seniorhood — and graduation!

The only thing missing was a junior-senior prom. Well, seeing as we had no seniors at the time, the idea seemed ludicrous, so we improvised a bit: the high-school students decided to hop aboard the "Caribbean Cruise," which by definition wasn't a prom, but was as enjoyable as one.

This, too, was a very successful academic year for Davidson. Many students were nominated for the Governor's Honors Program, and six actually got the chance to participate. (Keith Neely was our first student to attend the program the previous year.) Also, we participated in the Foreign Language Festival and raked in numerous awards.

Our teachers also received special attention this year. Wasn't Mrs. Lamb a good — no, a GREAT — sport to kiss that cute little piggy in our "Kiss-A-Pig" contest? And Keith Neely also displayed smashing sportmanship when he was awarded for his great leadership with a PIE in the face — a special treat from the teachers.

When the "Ring Man," Mr. Carrol, came with the order blanks for our class rings, we felt that SENIORITY was drawing closer.

Our junior year began with another decline in student enrollment. This time, 46 started off the school year, with five new students and the absence of 14. Monica Birt was elected president, Trecia Wilhite, was made vice-president; Terrance Heath was chosen to be secretary; and Sharon Coleman became treasurer. We were then prepared to begin a year of fund-raising, starting off with the sale of refreshments during the lunch period. One of the biggest and most profitable money-makers was the yard sale in front of the main building. Many other undertakings reaped success and guided us toward our prom — and we couldn't have done it without the intelligent, vivacious and loving Ms. DeLoach.

This was also the year of the Davidson Wind Ensemble, which began blowing successfully. With its new director, Mr. Drake, the band went to two competitions, scoring perfectly in the first. In the second competition, they took the highest award in a division they had not intended to enter, thus bringing home a trophy to add to our collection. This was only the beginning of the ensemble's success.

In this same year, the drama department performed impressively. They performed the one-act play "Tom Jones" in a local competition held at Augusta College and took home the first-place trophy. Their prize, too, was added to the growing collection of trophies already on display at DFA. And, as if that weren't enough, the actors and their play went to state competition, seizing second place on that level. Bravo!

The drama group also wowed audiences with the successful production "Spoon River Anthology," followed by Davidson's first musical, "The Boyfriend," which also went over exceedingly well.

Not only did arts excel within this year, but — as we've come to expect — so did the academics. The Star Student for Richmond County was John Stracke, a Davidson offspring who went on to compete on state level.

In the midst of all of our jubilee and success, tragedy reared its unwelcome head. Never must we forget the really important things in life, such as the precious life of another human being. And when that human is someone you know, and love, and enjoy, the thought of losing them takes on even more meaning and solemnity.

We shall never forget Tonya Granger. Her death came as a great shock to those of us who knew her, those of us who observed her friendly disposition, her bouncing walk, her sunny smile. We must always remember just how precious Tonya was — to her family at home, and to us, her school family.

On a national scale, there was the tragic explosion of the space shuttle, which took with it the lives of seven, adventurous humans. Yes, if we've experienced the joys of success this year, we've also tasted the bitterness of loss. And we've also come to appreciate the fact that life is precious — and fragile. Such a view makes us want to hold on to those dear to us, to let them know how much we care.

The year ended with the graduation ceremonies, which took place in the royal Imperial Theater. Happiness reigned, along with excitement, relief, and lingering sadness. The dignified occasion was marked by the beautiful singing of the chorus, the wonderful playing of the band, and the quiet flowing of tears. The graduating of the first class was a reassuring pattern of what was to come.

Our senior year began with the same level of excitement that has existed at the closing of the junior year. The excitement seems to have remained behind at the school at the closing of last term, slumbering in the deserted halls throughout the summer vacation, only to be awakened by the raw energy and keen anticipation of the returning seniors. Feeding on the spirit of its adolescent prey, the excitement grew with the advancing of the year. There wasn't a senior who seemed unaffected by it. Any, why not? After all, this was IT! We were finally the rulers of the mountain, the VIP's of the campus grounds, and maybe, just maybe, we could get away with calling the teachers by their first names.

However, where excitement and anticipation succeeded, student enrollment failed. There was a decrease of 8 students from the previous term, leaving only 38 students to comprise what will be John S. Davidson's second class to march.

Despite such a small band of warriors, however, preparations for our ceremony and other events got under way quickly. Headed by our advisor, Mr. Harrison, the ball was started rolling in the midst of the summer, when we were photographed for senior proofs and pictures, wonderful reminders of the thrill that was yet to come.

Then, in the fall together as a class, we began the only chore seniors enjoy doing — choosing caps and gowns, invitations and name card, autograph and memory books and rings, those noble symbols of alumnity. Also, we discussed the senior trip, in an attempt to decide where the most fun and freedom from our patents, and the most adventure would be.

Also, every senior purchased a personalized sweatshirt that had the names of the entire graduating class emblazoned on the front. The shirts were designed by James Thompson, (J.T. as most of us know him) himself a senior; orders were handled by our business manager, Maxine Coleman. She also designated a day for the senior to wear the sweatshirts, to show off our true class spirit.

Thanks to Mr. H. and his motley crew, who worked so hard to raise money for our privileges. His "crew" included Monica Birt; Prez; Trecia Wilhite; Vice-Prez; Viva Henry; Treasurer; Paula Godley; Secretary; and Maxine Colman; Business Manager. Also, members of the senior council, which was comprised of representatives from both senior homerooms.

The year was not without its academic strain, even amidst all the jubilee of imminent departure. There were crucial exams that had to be passed since we had already come THIS far. The solemnity of choosing college and of preparing mentally and emotionally for such a life was an ingredient impossible to ignore icing on the cake in this regard — or salt in the stew — was the dreaded SAT exam, which some of us have discovered to be less menacing than we'd been told.

All of the head-pounding we've done at the hands of John S. Davidson will, in the future, reap results worth striving for . . . at least, we hope so. (Because — face it — some of us couldn't learn from Ann Mansfield Sullivan if she rose from the dead to teach us.)

As we are a school that specializes in the fine arts, it is quite appropriate to note the outstanding achievement of our musicians, actors, and dancers.

The Wind-Ensemble, ever-growing and now at the point of sterling quality of sound, received perhaps the highest honor bestowed upon any area high-school musical group this year: they were invited to perform at a dedication ceremony at Pendleton King Park, as invited guests of the Mayor, Charles DeVaney himself!!

Adding to that honor was the fact that they performed "Fastivo," a musical composition, before Vasclav Nelhybel, the man who composed the piece!! With warmth and eagerness, Nelhybel offered instruction and helpful hints to the band of talented musicians. What an honor — a double honor — perform for a master and Mayor!!

The Wind Ensemble also entered contests throughout the state, as well as participating in special events, such as the Christmas parade.

The Drama Department heightened its role by presenting the school years first musical production, "The Fantastics." What made this show special was the fact that it included both students and faculty members as performers. The Department brought home the first-place trophy from a contest held at Augusta College, this catapulting them into the stage finals. Bravo!!

If a full-length television ad didn't convince everyone of the remarkable ability of John S. Davidson chorus, a visit from a Walt Disney choreographer, should have!!

The chorus would have immensely pleased Walt Disney himself with its amazingly beautiful and harmonic rendering of favorite Disney songs. "Spectacular!" is how someone described their performance, due to existing talent, dedication and Mrs. Lamb's drive, Heigh ho! Way to go! Hats off to you, chorus and Mrs. Lamb.

As with all high school years, there was a junior-senior prom, our second, and this time we were on the plus side. That meant the juniors had to do all the hard work of preparing. Good thing too, for it turned out to be an elegant affair, held at the Bon Air. Every girl was her Cinderella, every guy a prince charming. It was a night of glitter and dance, flowers and perfume, pink and blue colors and romance. Some of us shall never forget it . . .

The year came to close on a note of sadness, of reluctance, the rulers of the mountains, the campus gurus, cried the most. Finally, the moment came, the moment we'd awaited for — what seemed to be impossibly long 12 years — had arrived. The joy of actually graduating, of wearing the silk robe, of releasing the mortarboard in a gesture of jubilation . . . all of that chapter of one's life. A family about to separate . . . a family that henceforth would never be the same . . . the cessation of bells, and corridors, and school lunchrooms and the orderliness of it all . . . But the joy of a new beginning; a new life. Anticipation of what lies ahead — over the hill. Sure, new mountains to scale. Sure new campuses to conquer . . . but it can be done so far . . .

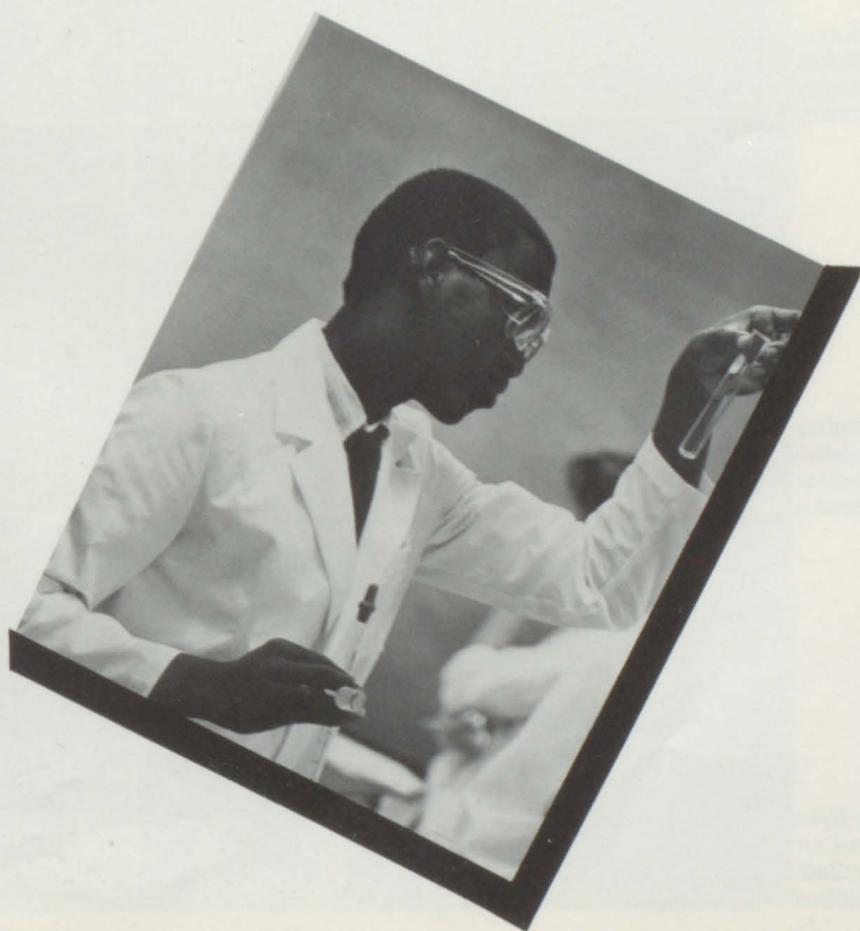

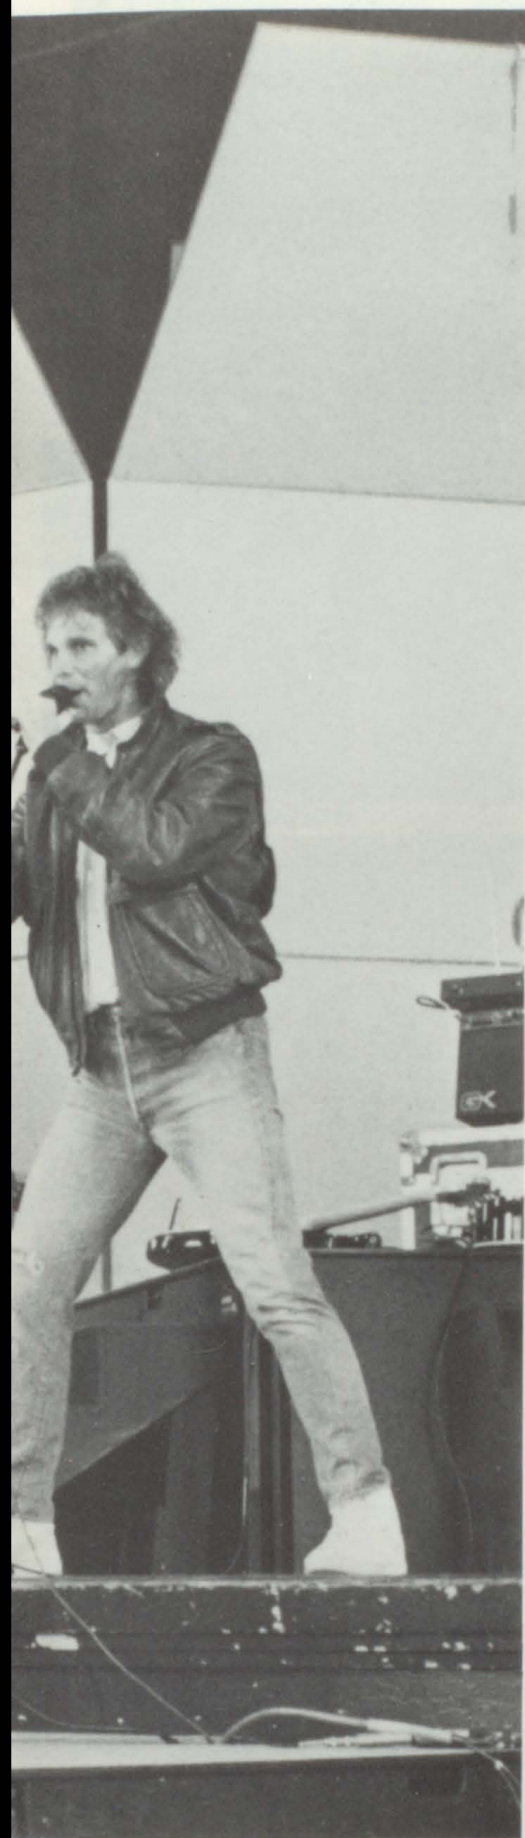

"Climb every mountain; ford every stream. Follow every by-way 'till you find your dream."

JUNIORS

A PRODUCT OF MANY

This year's convivial collection of rising seniors is definitely headed for the stars. Their success can only be contributed to their sensational ideas and sagacious sponsor. Ardorously working since their sophomore year, they've done everything from selling doughnuts to producing their own show. From Telfair to Broadway, these juniors are quickening the pace.

SOPHOMORES

PAINTING THE YEAR RED

As second year high school students, the sophomore class has painted the school red this year with enthusiasm and hard work. They began the year by electing a strong set of class officers who have organized and executed their first major project of the infamous turkey grams . . . feathers, suckers and all! But the sophomores realize school life is not all fun and games. Needless to say, they've sweated through Mrs. Anderson's fill in the blanks, Miss Walker's harping on the unity in The Red Badge of Courage, and have cringed on the days Miss Deloach has flashed her red alert socks. All in all, they have been primed to become even stronger to face the next two years . . . together.

What do you remember most ... about DFA?

Miss DeLoach's pop quiz shoes ... the scenery of the Pontiac Master's car lot and the smell of the canal ... getting caught by the light ... seven periods of tough classes with teachers who view us as privileged ... competing not on a field but on a stage ... the shuttle bus system ... missing sports, cheerleading squads and pep rallies ... the fun, but when playtime is over we get down to work ... the love the school expressed for a very special friend and classmate, Tanya Granger ... you can be yourself ... the closeness felt in this moulding old building that we tend to call home ... the teachers that really care about students as individuals and really want the students to learn ...

... The fact that Davidson may never be mentioned in the Sports section of the Augusta Chronicle, but that it has certainly been mentioned quite often in the Editorials ... walking across the street in the rain and the cold ... what is it like in another school ... the homework ... the opportunities Davidson offers ... and creates ... our snobish reputation among other schools ... the difficulty of juggling practices, performances and homework assignments ... Mr. Harrison's infamous quote for seniors who tend to get carried away with their own importance ... "There are others on this planet ..." ... those fifth graders who always seem to struggle with book bags big enough for them to crawl into ... Davidson is a distinct blend of students from the fifth grade to the twelfth grade, all crammed into this tiny building and all learning from each other.

THE UNIQUE PRINCIPAL

Mrs. Beverly J. Barnhart

Our Mrs. B is the main cog that makes the machinery of DFA run smoothly. She does it all from punching tickets in the lunch line to overseeing her administrative duties as principal and educator. Her determination and drive is the impetus for our success as a school.

Mrs. Barnhart has been the Principal of Davidson ever since our doors opened as a magnet school six years ago. She came to us well educated and experienced in the field of education, with undergraduate degrees in Education and Reading and graduate degrees in Education and Administration. She served as Magnet School Director, founding all three magnet schools in the Augusta area before being asked to serve as Principal for what we think of as the best school in the CSRA. Before the Richmond County Board of Education lured her into her present position, she served in many different capacities, most of which were education oriented. Certainly it is clear that Mrs. B has dedicated her life to the system of education. And are we lucky!

Mrs. B can be seen walking the halls of DFA like a Trojan . . . or should we say like an Egyptian?! Nevertheless, she would certainly comment that she does neither, but walks like a "Davidsoner."

A WINNING COMBINATION

Administration Forms The Backbone Of DFA

The administration is a very important part of our school. Mrs. Satcher and Mrs. Powell assist students with all kinds of conflicts ranging anywhere from scheduling to a broken heart. Our school's secretaries, Mrs. Clanton and Mrs. Whitford, keep the papers shuffling and the school moving. Mrs. Augustus helps students find the books they need, whether it's for research or pleasure. The nurse is here in the afternoons to "cure our illnesses." And last, but definitely not least, there is Mr. Clanton who insures students' safety as he stops traffic to let us cross the street. Thank you, administration, for all your work.

Mrs. Powell, Guidance Secretary

Mrs. Clanton, Secretary

Ms. Whitford, Secretary

Mrs. Augustus, Librarian

Mrs. Corley, School Nurse

Mr. Clanton, Paraprofessional

The LGA Department works hard to prepare students for the future through consistant requirements in reading, paper writing and mechanics.

The Foreign Language Department offers students an opportunity to experience another culture through communication.

Science is just full of adventure. The five teachers at DFA have a weird way of teaching. They could be part of a "Weird Science."

Math is a world of counting. Our teachers must have lots of toes and fingers! Do you wonder what they do with the variables?

Davidson is definitely the best in the fine arts. We have the best staff in music, dance, art, and drama. Where else can one find a staff!

The fine arts teachers love their works, and it is shown through their teaching. They take their work seriously and so do students.

Business Department

Mrs. Faye Claxton joins the faculty of Davidson this year as the business teacher. Mrs. Claxton has been teaching for the past eighteen years. Her past teaching jobs were at Butler, Augusta Tech, and Westside. She says that the students of Davidson give her a better outlook on teenagers. Mrs. Claxton is just one of the many unique teachers that make up the blend of Davidson.

Physical Education

Mrs. Cindy Martin and Mr. Morgan also join the faculty this year as the physical education teachers. One may find Mr. Morgan sitting around in the annex reading the sports section, shooting some basketball, or watching the high school students walk to their cars. Mrs. Martin can be found instructing some hard working students or playing some basketball at lunch time. Our school is very grateful to have these two instructors.

STUDENT LIFE

THE GRAVEL PIT

The DFA parking lot, also referred to lovingly as "The Gravel Pit," is definitely one of a kind. There isn't enough gravel in the world to make another one. And that collected cache of various sized stones makes for a wild ride for sure. Indeed, more than one student has foundd himself mysteriously spinning doughnuts when all he had intended to do was pull into a space. Once a student gets safely parked, he still has an adventure ahead of him before he gets to the school building. A quick dash across the canal and another mad dash across the street still lie before him. I wonder still about the placement of the thing. Seems they could have picked a better spot rather than have it serve as an obstacle course, but then, what would we have to complain about! After school the Gravel Pit becomes a social hot spot. There are more people here going together than one thinks, and after 3:15, the Pit becomes, well, to quote the immortal Ms. DeLoach . . . "Passion Palace!" but we are lucky to have the parking lot, no matter what the sacrifice. Hats off to Mrs. B!

This was the year that any style accepted. During warmer weather the hottest style was wild jams and over-sized tee-shirts. Skirt hems went from ankles to knees and were worn over lace or thermals. Popular movies and T.V. shows this year were "The Cosby Show", "The Oprah Winfrey Show", "Moonlighting", Top Gun and Platoon. Throughout the year DFA students have listened to Janet Jackson, The Pet Shop Boys, and The Beastie Boys through the earphones of their walkman radios, while doing the PeeWee Herman, the Sam and the Wop. Always individualistic in style, DFA students represent a bonding of goals and ideals.

Following are lists of fads and followings. What a year!

The Dance Department is quickly making its presence felt among the many fine arts programs at DFA. Again this year, the dance department is collectively producing the Dessert Theater, boasting of dynamic dance and delicious dessert. The program, produced by dance instructors Brian Joe and Carol Erkes, includes modern, jazz, and contemporary pieces. The Dance Department is certainly coming into its own.

The Student Government and the Student Council are organizations made up of students sharing in the life of the school. The elected representatives who meet together regularly promote citizenship, leadership, human relations and cultural values.

The Middle School Student Council reaches shared goals by involvement, learning, sharing, citizenship, achievement, personal growth, human relation, fun and student voice.

The secondary Student Council's 1986-87 goals include promoting a more active membership through school activities to encourage school spirit. Additional community service projects are also undertaken with groups such as SAAD and the American Lung Association.

1986-87 ANNUAL STAFF

Blends it together

Staff Top to Bottom: T. Drake, Y. Evans, C. Walker, J. Beach, C. Brucker, A. Dean, S. Smith, C. Cunningham, W. Jones, S. Weiss, R. Macey, D. Kemp, J. Byas, T. Shafer — Editor, Miss Walker — Advisor, Man — Unknown.

The 1986-87 Annual Staff has undergone a transitional period. This year's staff was divided into different sections and each assigned group was responsible for planning and laying out his section. This staff was also the first to sell advertising to help offset the cost of the book. Certainly our staff this year represents a unique blend of students who have put forth an effort to publish DFA's 6th Annual.

This marks the second year DFA has boasted of a school paper. FAZZ is written and published quarterly by a staff of sixteen of DFA's own and is headed by Editor Laura Townsend. Besides being a service providing news and feature material for students, the newspaper also serves as a tool for practical application of journalistic skills. Mr. Harrison has managed to teach these students journalistic techniques as well as responsibility.

Another sister publication is the literary magazine, Facing The Wall. Led by Mrs. Wallace and editor Edie Sperr, this is the first year the magazine has published more than one issue. Short stories, poetry, essays and art work are selected and layed out by the staff and printed by our adopter, University Hospital. All published materials are selected from contributions from the student body.

Both of these publications are staffed and run by students, teaching both journalistic techniques as well as teaching responsibility in meeting deadlines and producing quality publications. They also give a forum for student writing and views — proving that after six years of existence Davidson has matured into a full fledged school.

SPANISH

The Foreign Language Clubs at DFA give students a chance to experience in depth the cultures they are studying. Each club focuses on activities that are representative of the peoples who speak the language they are studying. Each club acts not only individually, but also as a unit, coming together to represent DFA in many Foreign Language activities. The clubs spearheaded the nationality dress day in which members as well as other students dressed to represent their own ethnic background to help celebrate National Education Week.

Kneeling: P. Lane, E. Sabio, Standing: P. Dukes, T. Rutherford, C. Guillory, Mrs. Stracke — Advisor, D. Bush, S. Wiggins, A. Bush, A. Sykes, D. Benjamin, D. Jenkins. Phillip Lane — President.

The week ended with a city wide parade in which DFA students attended in ethnic costume carrying huge paper maché masks, placing first in Best Walking group. Another activity all the clubs are working together on is the Foreign Language Festival held this year at Butler High School. Schools all over the county will be participating, and DFA is no exception. The German, French and Spanish clubs are planning to perform skits done in appropriate costume and language, and to prepare ethnic foods.

To Will,

*Seventeen years ago, when you entered this world we had no idea what your graduation from high school would mean to us.
Now, looking back, we are both proud of all the things you have done...
the starring roles, the bit parts, the good grades and the times you tried anyway.
You are yourself. You have been weighed in the balance and we find that you are a wholesome, idealistic, good person...a joy to know.
In short, you are a gentleman and we are very proud to be your parents.*

To begin, I would like to say that we made it. The 1986-87 Davidson Fine Arts School yearbook is here. This has been an experience that I will never forget nor be a part of again. Don't get me wrong, I have enjoyed every minute of it, typing copy, setting layouts, cropping pictures and more. That is the job of an Editor-in-Chief, and I am proud that I was the one to do it.

However, things went well and we were able to get this year's yearbook to you. However, this book would not have been possible without the help and support of our principal Mrs. Barnhart. Through her patience and understanding this book was made possible. Next there is our company's representative Mr. John Parker who guided us through the tribulations of laying out pages of which you are now reading. Then the advertisers who without thier financial support this book would not have been possible. And to you, the student, who helped support us through your patience and money.

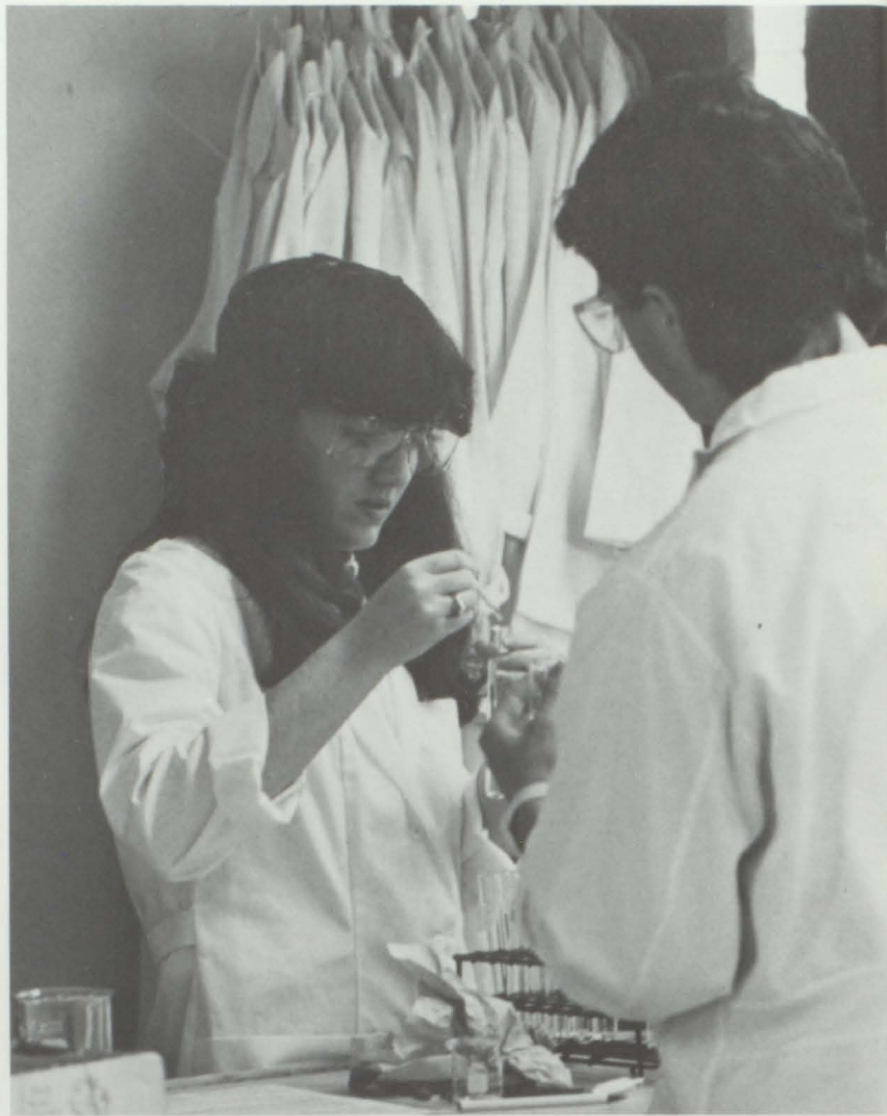

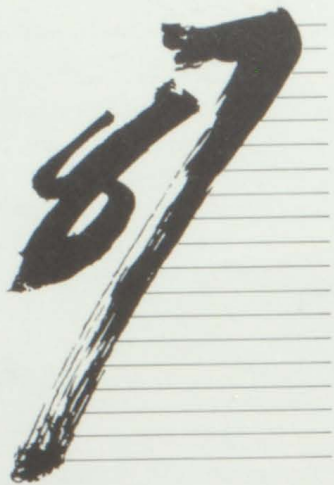

My advisor, Miss Terri Walker, who without her help and her creativeness none of this would be possible. Next, my thanks go out to Miss Deloach for her trigger finger and her understanding to take the pictures which are in this book. I also want to thank Mrs. Kavanagh for taking her time to develop film for us. Mrs. Claxton for typing copy and all those wonderful staff members who did the work to bring you, the student, this years book. For all those who I haven't named, we know you in our minds as contributors to the production of this book. THANK YOU!
