VARIETY

"Variety is the spice of life," so they say. Of course, Davidson is no exception. There is a wide variety of students and teachers, as well as talents. The student body and faculty range from fifth to twelfth grades, from "nerds" to "yuppies" and from "punks" to "preps," while talents range from journalism to dance. Nevertheless, we have a common goal, and it is that which bonds us together to form a school as unique as Davidson.

As one of the many areas studied at Davidson, orchestra illustrates a variation of musical talent. Students spend as much time practicing their specialized fields as studying for their academic courses.

Stage performance is not the only form of drama. Here, senior Jeffrey Byas works diligently on set construction for "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail," Davidson's first dramatic production of the year.

COMEDY

Humor can be found in anything at Davidson. A few comical situations include fifth graders with book bags big enough to climb into and Mr. Morgan's famous Friday quote, "Have a safe weekend and don't go around swappin' slobber." you never know — the next Eddie Murphey could be a Davidson graduate.

Senior William Jones expresses his desire to be a fire fighter after finishing school. He claims the main reason for this is that his favorite color is red, the senior class color.

Senior Debbie Kemp and junior Lainie Bogoslawsky demonstrate their "quackiness" by making "duck lips" out of Pringles potato chips. They are often seen dressing like their idol, Donald Duck.

DRAMA

Davidson is a world of drama, from the moments of getting caught by the train to detention; and from failing a test to Mr. Grier's drama classes. Writing their own scripts, Davidson students have a master list of excuses. Reasons for being late to class: 1. getting caught by "the Light;" 2. last class was in the annex; 3. last class was dance, and I had to change. It is this that separates us from other schools.

Student Eric Snowberger washes mirrors in the large lunchroom, a typical detention task. Detention is a dramatic hour of "if only's" . . . "If only I had spit my gum out before class . . ."

Here, an unnamed student heaves a sigh upon receiving a failing paper. Luckily it's only the first of the six weeks. There is plenty of time to bring up that grade before report cards go home.

GAME SHOWS

Everyone needs to have fun, and the students at DFA are the masters of this art. They know when and how to make the best of everything. When faced with danger, they laugh. When faced with hard work, they buckle down. And when faced with life at DFA, they turn it into a game.

Freshman Jimel Carpenter, who is participating in a game of Truth or Dare, takes a dare of jumping into a moving car. Did Jimel jump into a car that was really moving or was this picture set up?

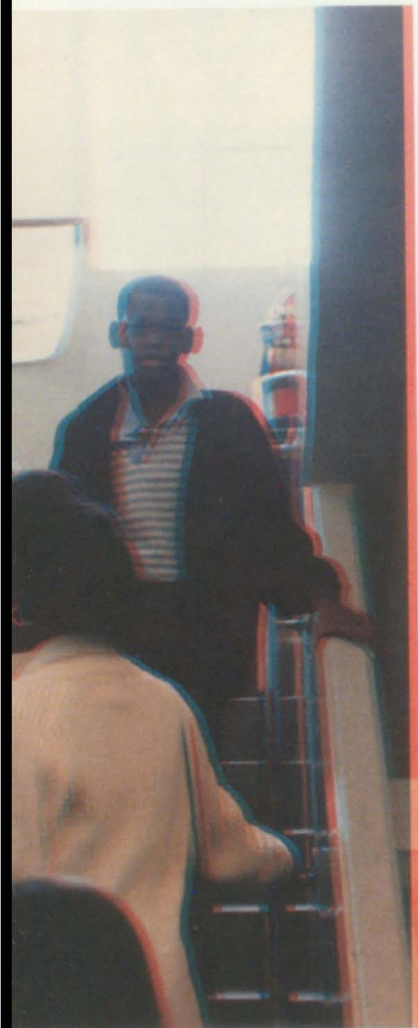

Miss Deloach's third period Physics class harmonizes with their makeshift instruments while DeLoach hides under her desk. And they say science is boring!!!

NEWS

Insider

Many news worthy things are taking place at Davidson. Our main sources of information are Mrs. Barnhart's daily morning announcements and the student bulletin board near the main entrance. Part of all the excitement was the receiving of fifteen new computers for the computer lab. Another exciting factor was Davidson's twenty-eight Governor's Honors Program nominees in subjects ranging from French to art.

A new edition to the school this year is "THE BRIDGE." No, this is not Billy Joel's latest album, it is Davidson's link to the Gravel Pit and to civilization.

Well, we may not be moving into a new school any time soon, but the old one that we all know and love has undergone plastic surgery. If you noticed the trim is bright white, instead of dingy brown.

EMMY AWARD WINNER JOAN SATCHER

For Best Supporting Actress In A Daytime Drama

We, the annual staff of 1987-88 dedicate this year's annual to Mrs. Joan Satcher for her commitment to the Seniors as well as the entire student body. "Mrs. Satcher always seems to care ... When she told me about my Governor's Honors nomination she was excited with me ..." — Leonard Zimmerman

"Mrs. Satcher is more than a guidance counselor. She is such an organized person that she can make schedules for over 500 students and still have time to do report cards and give torture tests like the PSAT to unwary sophomores and juniors. Thank you, Mrs. Satcher for those wonderful Saturday mornings filling in circles to incomprehensible questions." — Jennifer Patterson

"She's a real asset to this school." So, with much love and respect ... Mrs. Satcher, this one's for you! WE LOVE YOU!!!!

Class of '88' is

We suggest you don't try this at home without proper supervision!

That's right, we see you Jeffrey ... or is that really Jeffrey?

Go ahead closer to the mic Tina, it won't bite!

5, 6, 7, 8 DANCE! Well, maybe not this time!

Stop standing around, Jimmie and get to class!

Caught in the Act!

Looks like you could use your sunglasses too, Pete!

Wow, the future Army of America! Girls, should we join?

Sing it again Sandy!

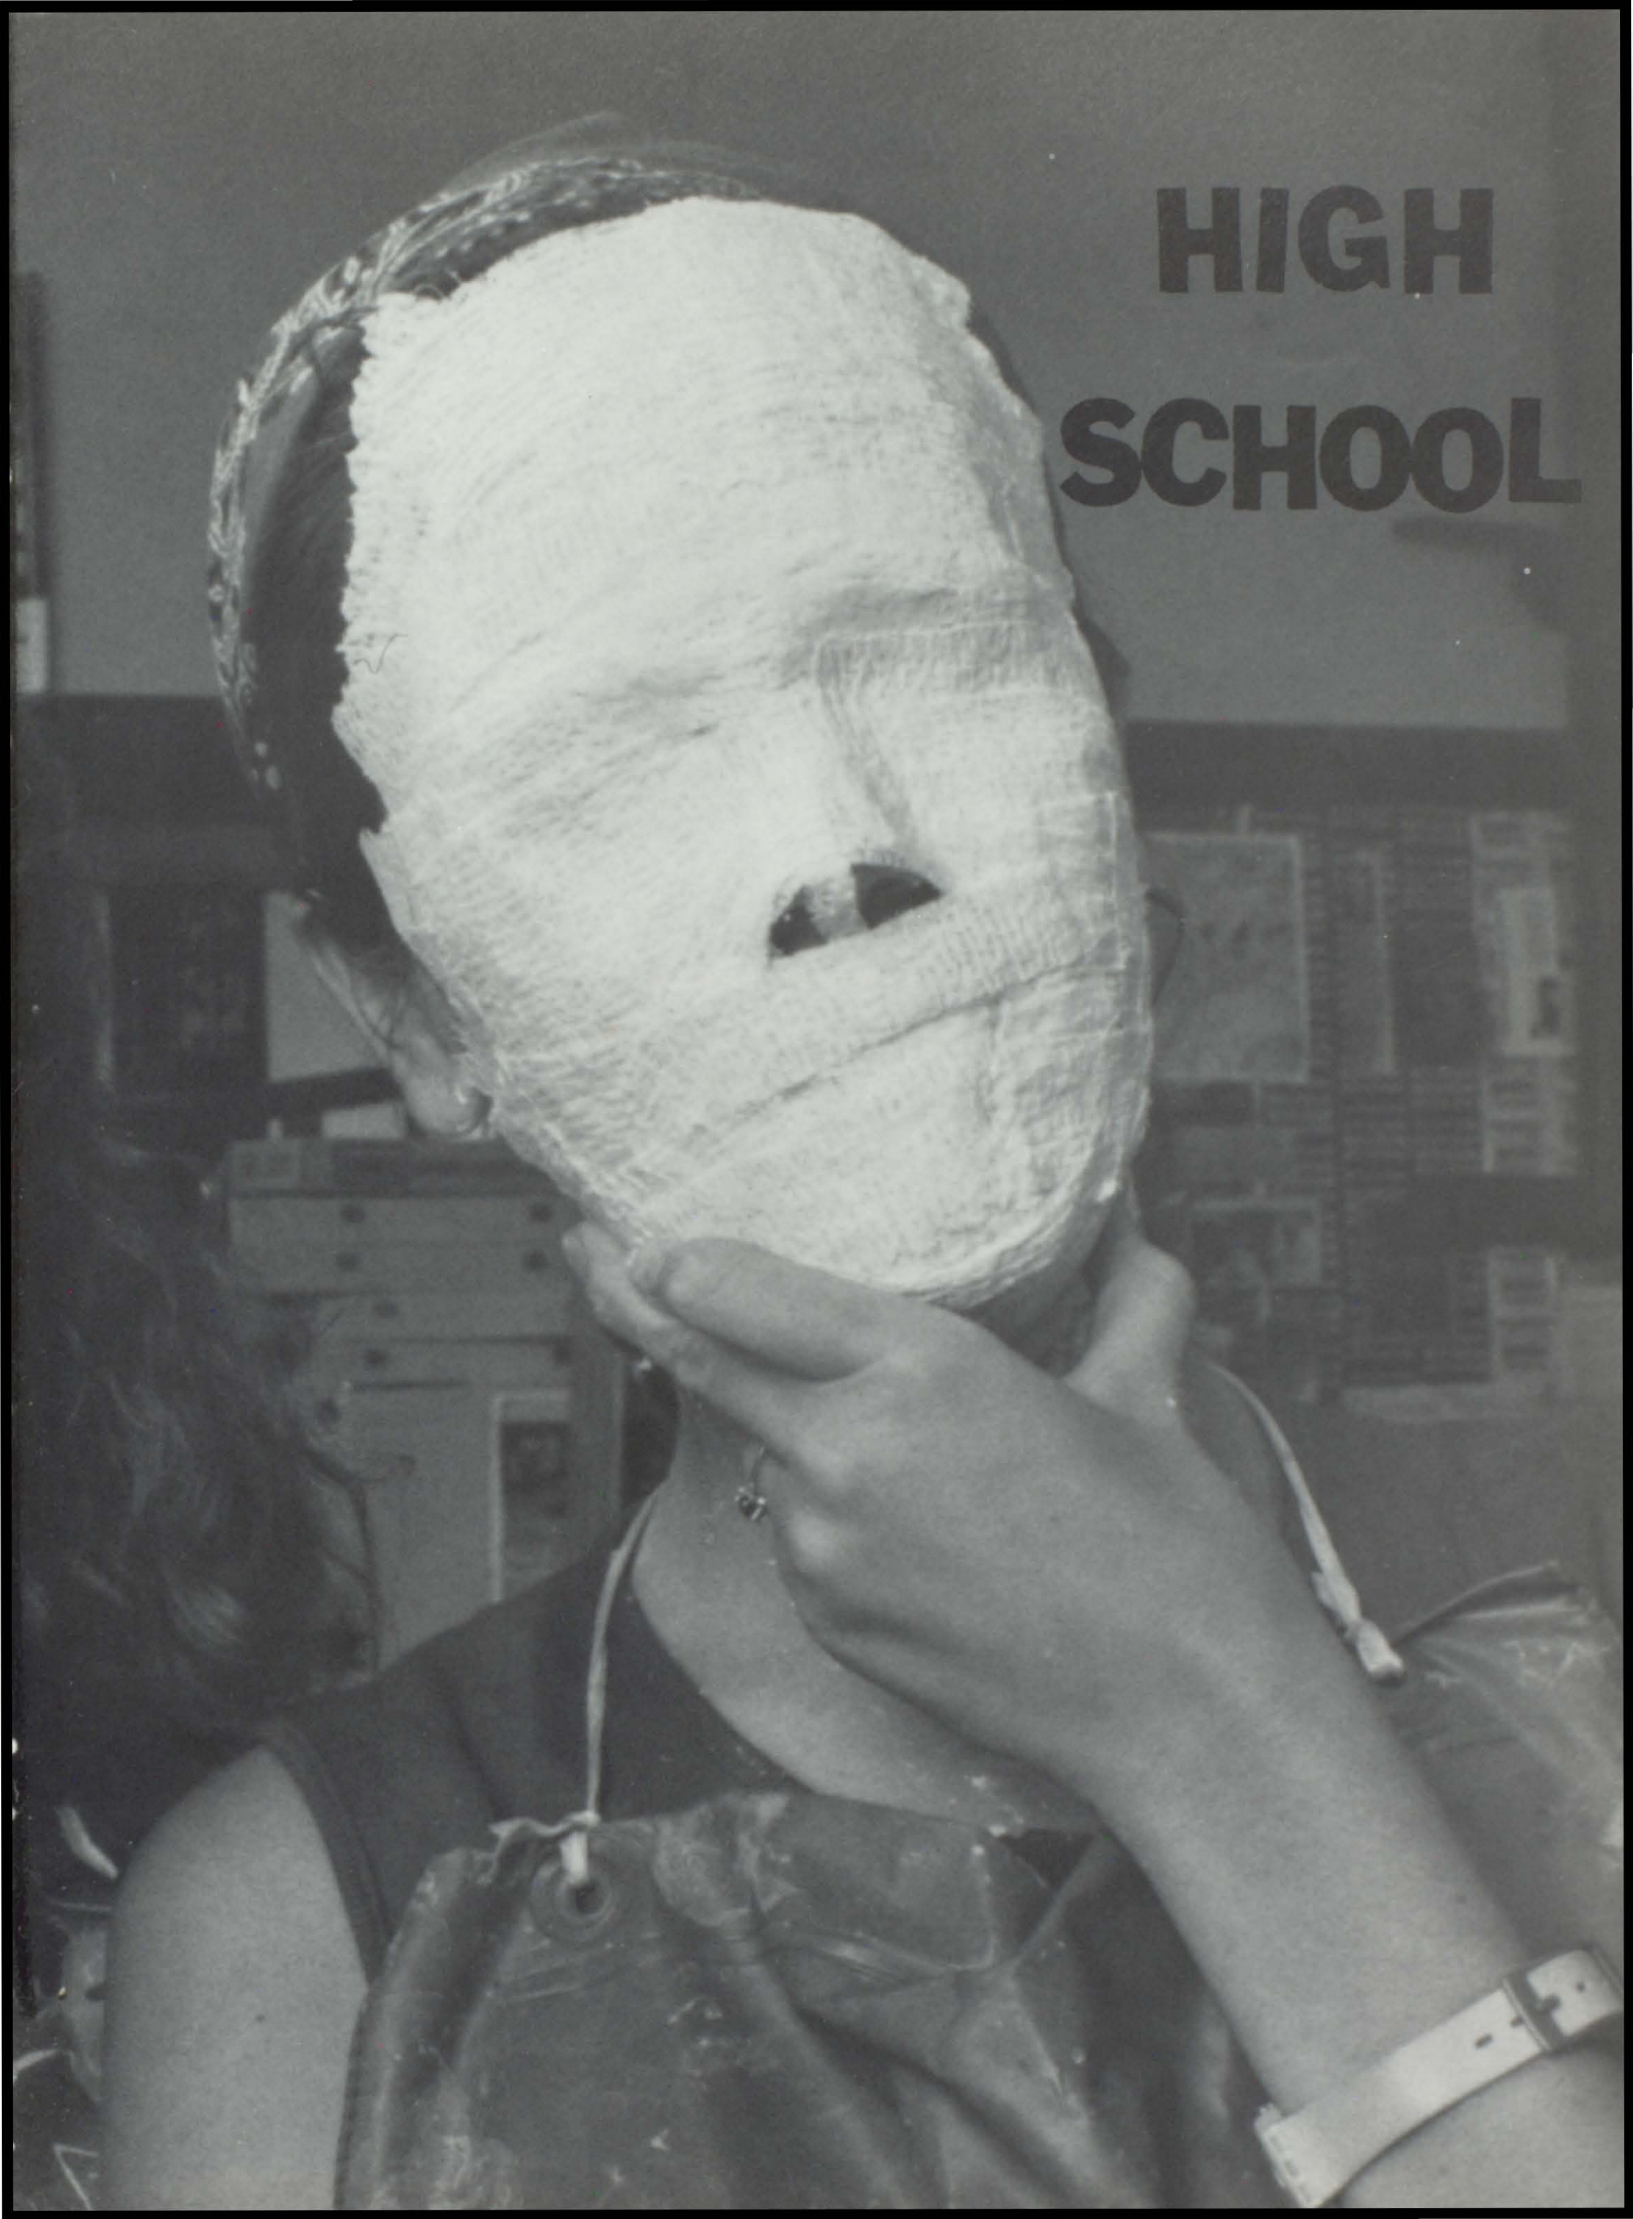

My role as the senior class sponsor at DFA is an intriguing one in that I serve as the "fixed point" during a formative period when twelfth graders are evolving into independent men and women who are dilligently plotting optimistic futures, yet hoarding nostalgic memories; harnessing personal emotions, yet absorbing the world's tremors, or challenging the statues of antiquity while seeking to order uncharted horizons. And all the while, I share a kinship with these paradoxical dynamos who fashion luxuriant harmonies, create dramatic illusions, compose panoramic expressions of line, color and form, or execute moving themes in rhythmic grace. Some do it all!

However, in addition to sharing with this artistic constellation, I also share in the daily experiences which allow them to cry when they falter, to agonize when they fear, to complain (when done civilly), to work until they feel the gain, to appreciate the men and women they have become and finally, to jubilate in the well-deserved cry — SENIORS!!!!

Then for me, this evolutionary process becomes a drama of joy, frustration and peace — a catharsis of emotions and a catalogue of poignant memories. And to feel that in sharing I have been a guide or an inspiration, however remote, is still a good feeling.

FACULTY

THE TOP OF TELFAIR

Who's the Boss?

There is no question in our minds that Beverly Barnhart is the boss at DFA. If there is a doubt, one glimpse of "the look" given by Mrs. B. will reassure us of her authority! According to DFA students, there is a lot more to Mrs. Barnhart than authority . . . she's caring and interesting . . . she's a professional and a terrific dresser . . . she's encouraging . . . the intercom wouldn't be the same without "Have a good day" and "Young people" . . . she makes DFA. We appreciate your time, support, and love!

Beverly J. Barnhart

DFA LAW

Mr. Welcher is our latest evidence that Davidson is finally moving up to rank among the "big" boys. Davidson certainly needs Mr. Welcher, and he certainly fits in with our academic/artistic style. Completing his BA at Tuskegee University and his Master's Degree at S.C. State, Mr. W. has set his next goal to complete his Ed.D. But education has not been Mr. W's only success. He acted with a theater group in college and even recorded with the Commodores which helped prime him for his debut as . . . a "raisin." DFA is proud and lucky to have a multi-talented man serving as our Assistant Principal.

Hawthorne Welcher

GOLDEN GIRLS

Our golden girls consist of a variety of hard working ladies. Mrs. Satcher and Mrs. Powell are responsible for organizing our schedules, mending our friendships, and preparing us for life. Mrs. Clanton and Ms. Whitford, our school's secretaries, shuffle papers, answer phone calls, and keep the school in order. Mrs. Corley nurses the sick and mends the injured. Mrs. Agostos keeps the library going and growing. A new addition to our administrative staff is Mrs. Story. She assists Mrs. Agostos in the library. We appreciate the hard work of our administration.

STOP, LOOK, & LISTEN

Mr. Clanton is responsible for enforcing DFA's safety laws. He can be seen everyday at the light stopping traffic and allowing us to arrive in classes safely. Because Mr. Clanton can't magically change the light, we are sometimes late for class. We appreciate Mr. Clanton!

DFA JOURNAL

+ Our LGA Department covers everything from spelling and reading to essays and interpreting literature. The middle school teachers are preparing students for high school. These teachers are Mrs. Rogers, 5th grade; Mrs. Snowberger, 6th grade; Ms. Gunter, 7th grade; Mrs. Kavanagh, 8th grade. The high school teachers are Mr. Thomason, Miss Walker, Mrs. Fiveash, and Mr. Harrison.

Mr. Morgan and Mrs. Martin are proud of the P.E. Department at DFA. Despite the lack of facilities and equipment, they are accomplishing many things. They are trying to stress participation and skill development in activities that participate in throughout their lifetime. On top of this, they're stressing the importance of physical fitness by including exercise in the daily routine. This year they are also trying to get the entire student body interested in various after school activities. We appreciate your dedication.

STUDENT LIFE

The Dating Game

Most Embarrassing Date

Darell — "Halloween eve. We were in a haunted house. A guy scared me in front of the girl, and I fell on the gravel ... she laughed."

Trey — "We didn't dance once, she wouldn't sit by me on the way home. She didn't want to go out with me in the first place."

Matilda — "It was in the summer, June 27. He came to the door, and and I saw him and laughed because he was so ugly. I went to tell my sister that he was ugly, and he heard me."

Leslie — "I was only 13, and I doubled with my sister and her boyfriend. I found out in the long run that the guy they set me up with was very experienced and very ... drunk! Needless to say, my sister was very angry!"

Kate — "It was supposed to be the date of all dates. Everything that could have gone wrong did. The party got closed down, we got a flat tire, and dinner was less than average. What a bad date!"

Anonymous — "It started out when I was supposed to go out with this guy, but my mom had an emergency, so we had to take my little brother along. During the movie my loud-mouth brother sat between us, and told my boyfriend all of my secrets."

We asked a lot of students about their feelings about dating. It was really very interesting in the fact that most males and females want and feel the same thing. Our results are very clearly illustrated on this page.

The questions we asked were somewhat personal, but the students answered with honest, open responses. We would like to thank them all for helping. The people that contributed were: Darell Presley, Trey Allen, Leslie Handley, Kate Bottomly, Matilda Bennett, Alan Smith, Deborah Byas, Stephanie Hayman, Sutton Brown, Christine Cunningham, Carter Dunbar, Brent Lungsford, Jim Grier (because he is a student at heart), Nikki Clemants, Joshua Hart, and the anonymous.

What attracts you most?

Alan: "It's the way she looks at me, her eyes."

Deborah: "The eyes. I love eyes. I love to hear people talk too."

Stephanie: "Intelligence, then a knowledge of music, um piercing eyeballs, and shoulders. I love shoulders."

Sutton: "His clothes — they have to be awesome clothes — like dead jeans, button down shirts, a bolo tie, and a pair of old, broken-in, leather high tops. Oh! I like a strong jaw bone."

Leslie: "Eyes, turtle necks, ski sweaters, and he has to have strong hands, and long eye lashes."

Trey: "A brain (is she literate?), a sense of humor, and at this stage wealth is not that important ... pretty eyes, and hair."

Christine: "Eyes, smile, especially with dimples, sense of humor, knowledge, and nice fitting jeans."

Kate: "Eyes — a stomach — he has to be funny and intelligent. He has to be able to figure out what makes me happy."

Matilda: "Personality and a little bit of looks."

Carter: "A sense of humor, taller than I am, a lot of money, he has to be neo-trend."

Mr. Grier: "Merril Streep."

Nikki: "Intresting, tall, fun."

Josh: "It's something in the eyes."

Brent: "I want someone who is humorous, yet serious, intelligent, but naive, and tall, yet short."

Fred: "Wilma Flinstone!"

When asking or asked

Leslie: "flattered, sometimes confused: like why am I being asked."

Trey: "nervous — that's it."

Alan: "tounge-twisted, clumsy, anticipation."

Darell: "inadequate, silly, nervous."

Stephanie: "detached, calm, excited, heart saying YIP-PEE! and 'it's about time.'"

Sutton: "exhilarated — amazed — God is answering my prayers."

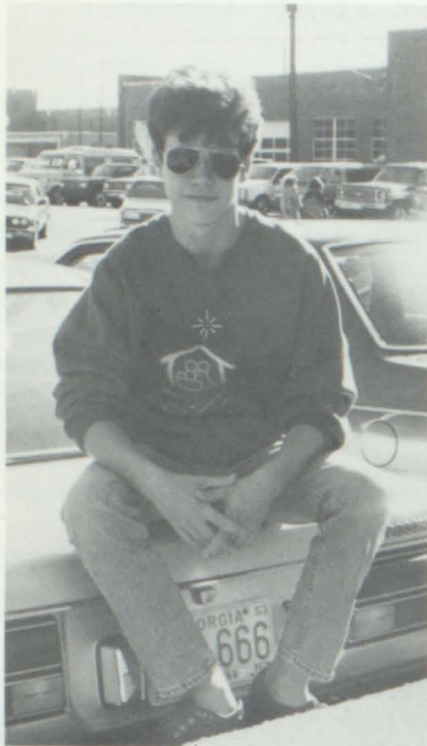

Matilda: "excited and suprised!"

Carter: "very excited , relieved — maybe, happy with myself, and sorrow for the guy."

Kate: "excited but sad because I'll wonder if there will be a second date."

What's Hot

Students are sure barometers of what's hot ... and what's not in today's fashions. Clothes that are an absolute must ... "Mom, I'll just die if I don't have a Forenza denim dress ..." quickly are replaced by new and daring fashions ... "but Mom, Mrs. B. won't care if my skirt comes just a little over the knee ..." Hot on the fashion front this year are Ray Bans, boots, tie die clothing, car shades, and acid jeans. Shoes? Take your pick!

Those same style conscious students who would do anything, even babysit their younger brother for a pair of L.L. Bean boots, won't be caught dead in many of the same "have to have" items only months later. This year, styles that ... "are not" ... are jams (last year's hottest item), fake designer anything (now it's the real thing or nothing), Palmetto sweaters, swatches, and banana clips. Special thanks to those "embarrassed" yearbook staffers who finally consented to "modeling" their "nots" for us!

And What's Not

DFA Middle School

Take A Walk On The Wild Side . . .

When asked what they will always remember most about DFA, Middle Schoolers remarked: . . .

I'll always remember the feeling I get when I got the acceptance letter to DFA . . . Mrs. Findley's dry, corny jokes . . . laughing at my friends on the bus . . . my first C+ . . . Miss Gunter's playfulness . . . the closeness of the students . . . detention . . . the first time I got to buy a yearbook . . . getting up at 6:00 a.m. . . how scared I was the first day of school . . . having a schedule and a locker . . . make-up snow days . . . our "adopted seniors" . . . bus conversations . . . the craziness of the day it iced . . . organized teachers . . . how nice Mrs. Barnhart has been to me . . . Mr. Welcher as a "grape" . . . Mr. Thomason's funny accent . . .

We called on the middle schoolers again to impart their words of wisdom. When asked about becoming high school students, they remarked with a flurry of ink comments!

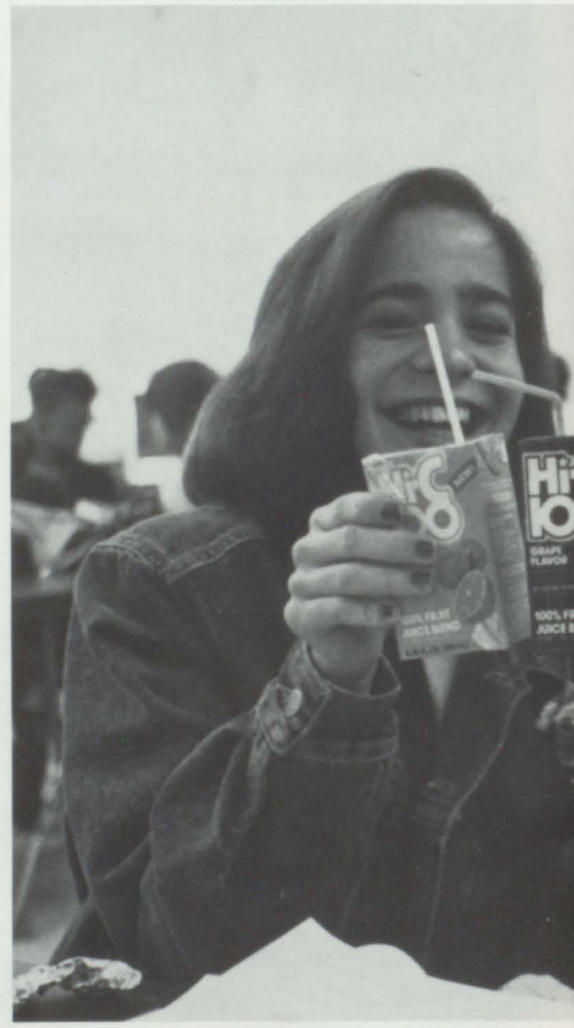

Some would rather be HS students because ... they have more fun ... its closer to graduating ... you have more privilagees ... everybody looks up to them ... they can participate in more activities ... they are spoiled by teachers ... I could go to my locker at any time ... I hate carrying all these books ... they get first choice of the auditorium seats ... so I could take the classes I want ... they get to wear what they want ... more interesting classes ... I will be earning credits ... I would get more respect ... they have more responsibilities ...

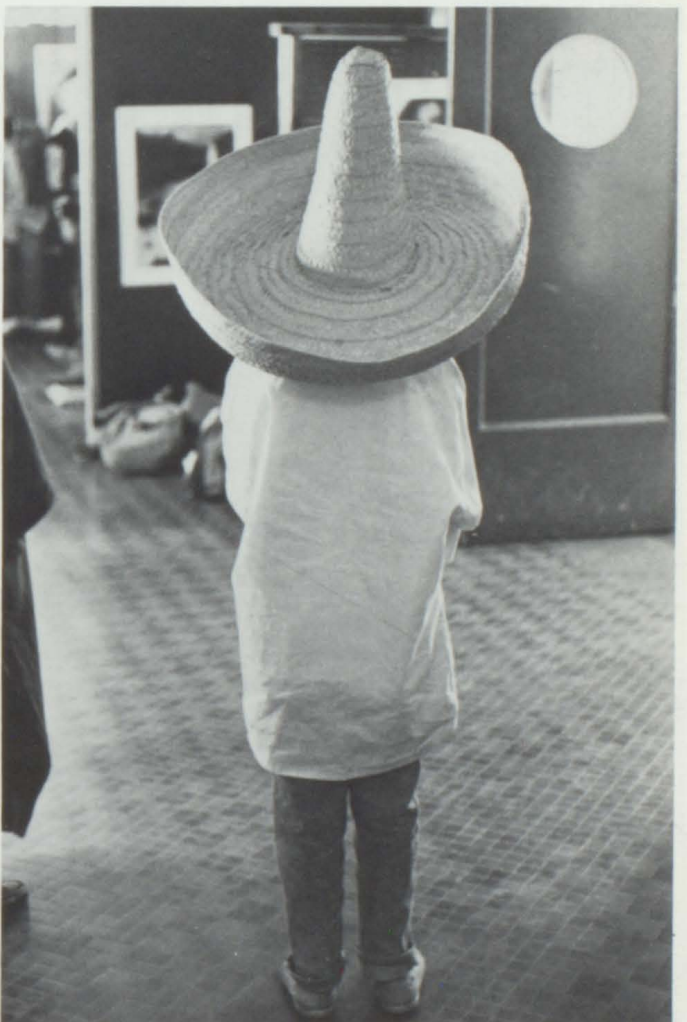

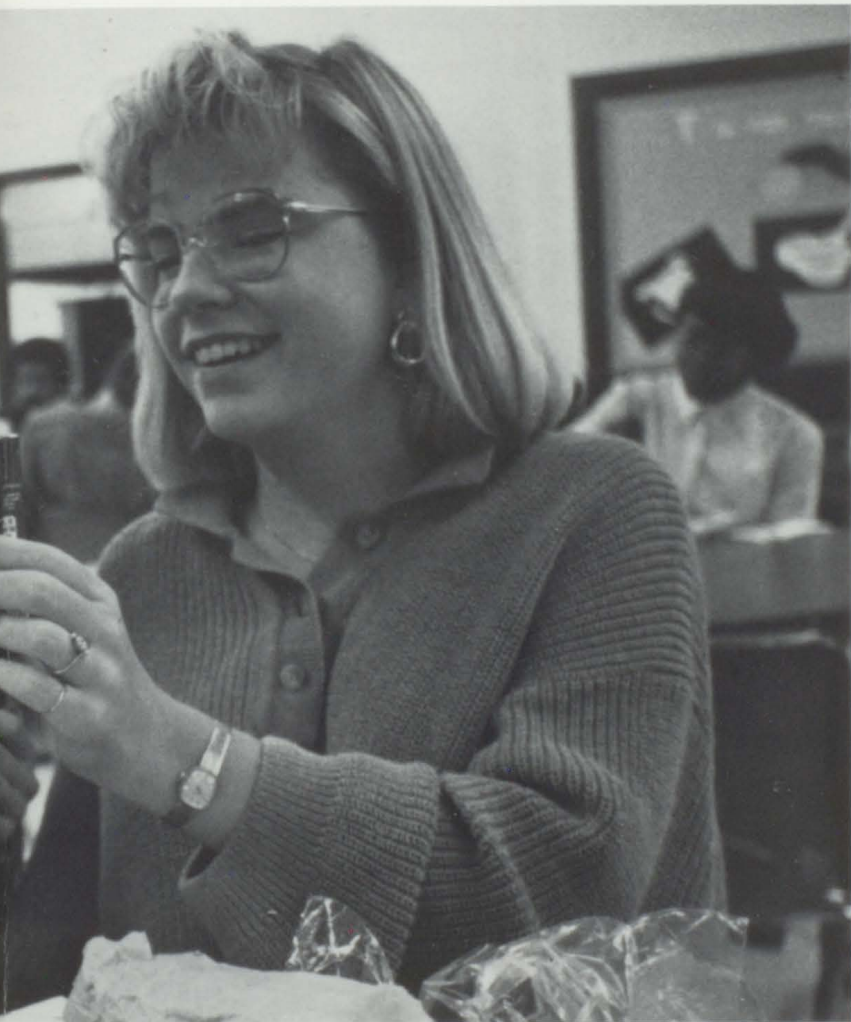

Some middle schoolers would rather stay in middle school because ... exams are too hard in HS ... its too much work ... too much pressure ... I like my friends ... I'm just not ready ...

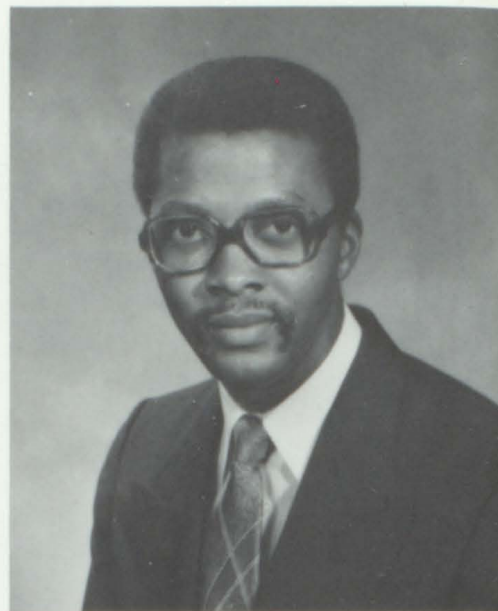

Pee-Wee's Playhouse

Pee-Wee's Playhouse is a popular Saturday morning T.V. show this year. The show is a place of manifesting creativity like Davidson, but we know when it is time to have fun and when it is time to be serious. Pee-Wee is Pee-Wee. Davidson is Davidson.

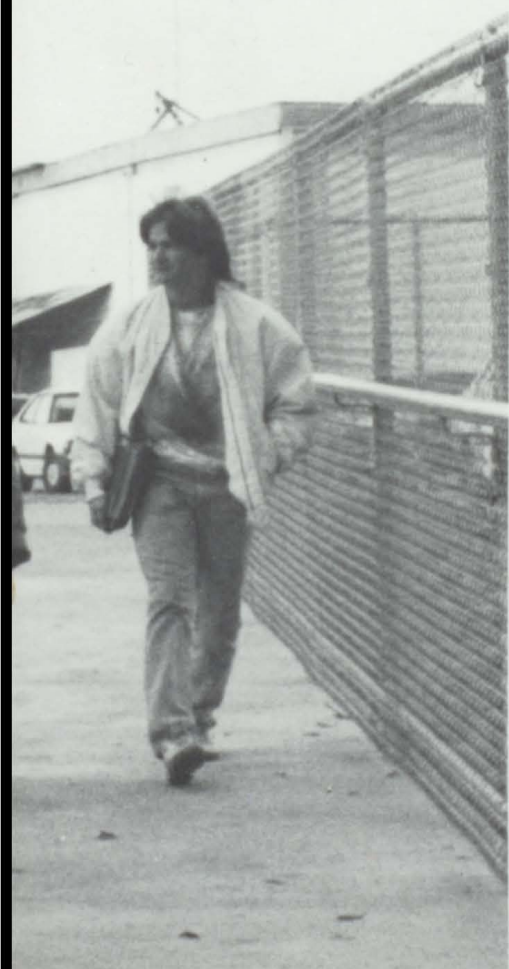

“What’s G’nu?”

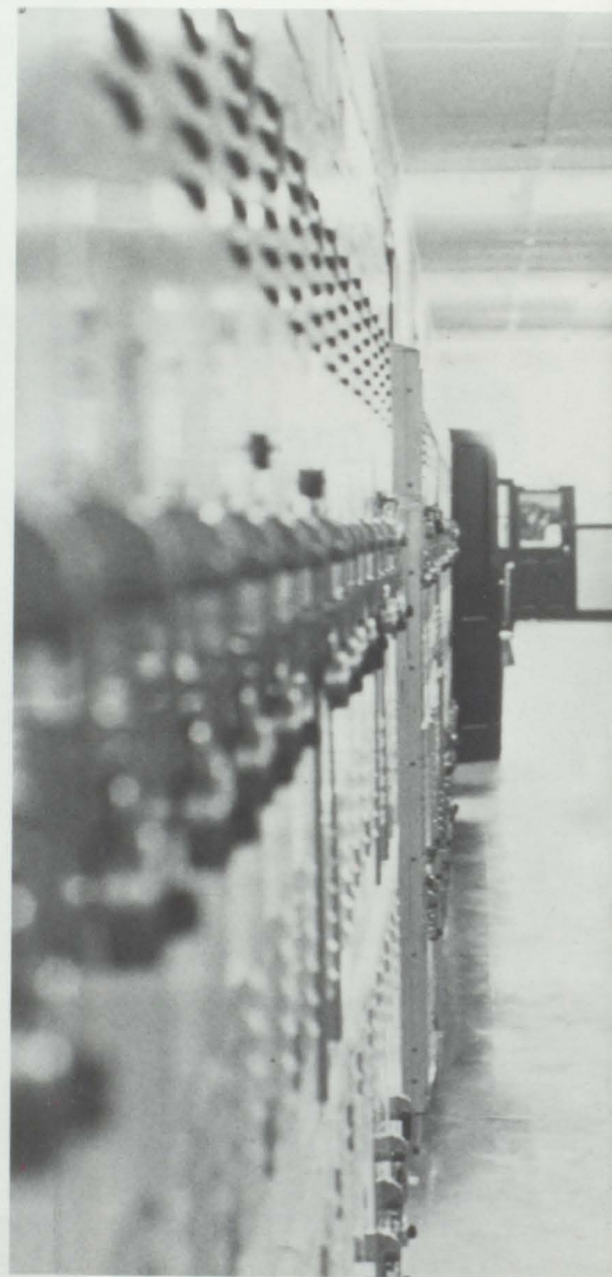

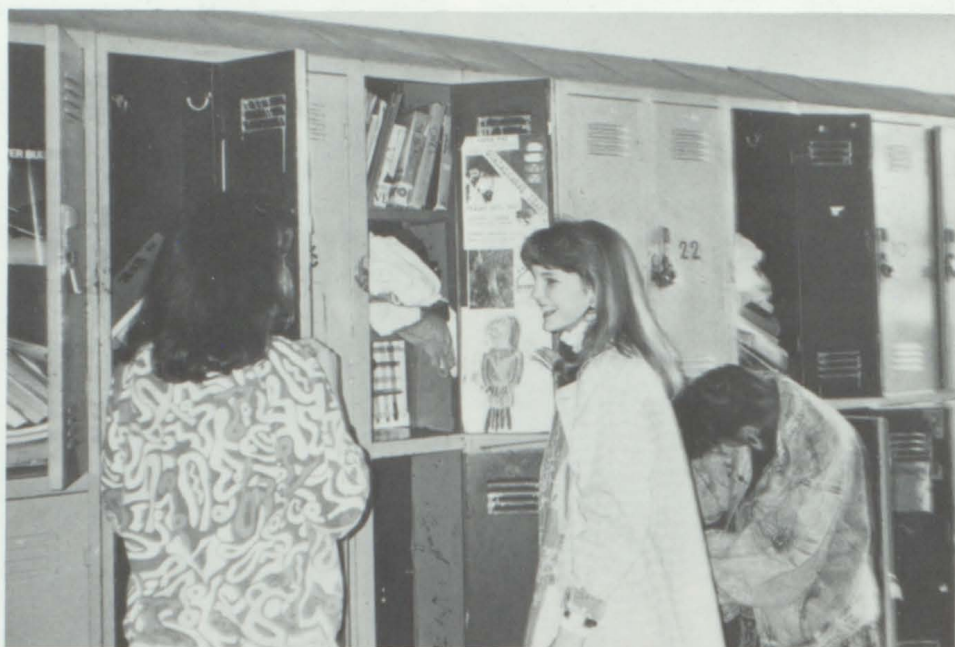

When you first stepped in to the door of "good old DFA," you probably noticed a few new additions. The first shocker was the new Vice-Principal, Mr. Welcher. There were also many new teachers here (shown here.) During the School year, more were added: the bridge, band lockers, new air conditioning units, and new computers came daily.

All Locked Up

Even though dented, beaten and worn, the lockers at DFA are a much coveted commodity, nothing gets more abuse. They are slammed and kicked by harried students; they are stuffed with books, old test papers and smelly gym clothes; they are decorated with half dressed muscle men or rock stars; they are adorned with mirrors and answering machines . . . for those who never miss a beat . . . They are both cursed and worshiped. We decided to do a study on these sanctuaries of hoarded treasures. Students use lockers as a form of expression. Lockers are mysteriously decorated on birthdays or other special occasions by friends, making the locker's owner a special person. Not only are lockers decorated on the outside, but students also use the inside as a form of self-expression.

After School Specials

What's to do in Augusta, G-A? Though the possibilities may seem limited, creative students at DFA make the most of their choices. The newly renovated riverfront is a popular place to go for a romantic evening or a playful afternoon. Looking for romance or just a good dance? Check out "Chilly's" or "T.P. Cruisers" the new teen dance clubs. If you don't find the love of your life you may just end up on T.V. For the true follower of the arts there is an opera, ballet, play, or art exhibit to attend, that is if you're not rehearsing yourself. For those who enjoy going out to eat at a variety of places Augusta offers it all. For the ethnic taste there is Oriental, Mexican, Cajun, and Greek to name a few. For Italian lovers there is the new "Mazzio's" or an old favorite, "Pizza Hut."

If your taste is for quick American food you can visit "McD's," "Har-dee's," or a sub shop. "To heck with politics, let's eat" at Applebee's for a variety of foods and a taste of the "Yuppie" life. For a less expensive time it's fun to invite some friends over and call out for "Dominoes." Then watch movies on the V.C.R. or play "Pictionary" the new rage in board games. You can always go to a movie, play "Putt-Putt" or just drive around downtown. The weekends are also great to spend time with family or with youth groups at synagogues and churches.

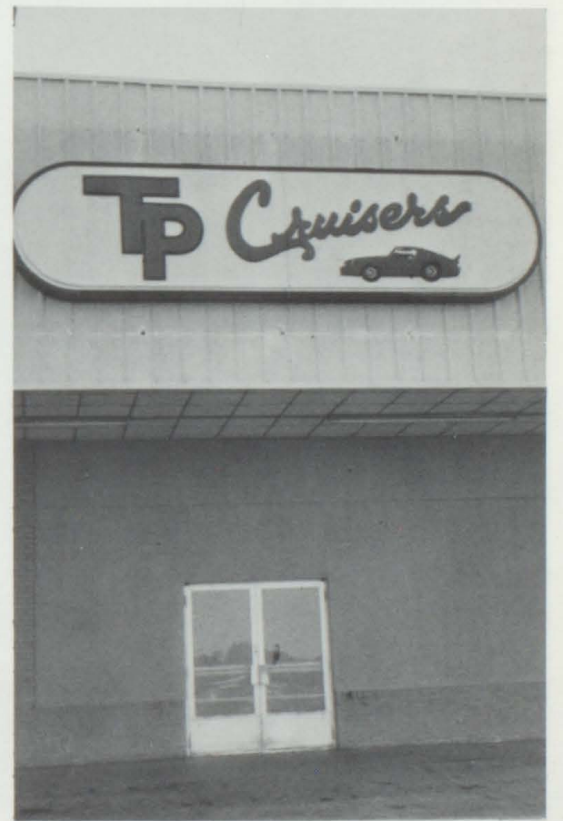

For those who choose to spend their extra time earning money the choices are numerous. Some DFA students hang out as well as work at the malls. Their jobs range from cooking food at "Chick-Fil-A" to selling clothes at Macy's or Belk's.

Students also work at various grocery and drug stores such as "Kroger" or "Drug Emporium!" Other work locations include area cinemas and various specialty shops. Some of DFA's dancers earn extra money and have fun while teaching dance at various studios in Augusta. Whether in work or play DFA students have a great time. As someone once said, "It's not what you do, but who you do it with." The unique friends at Davidson create their own fun, even in Augusta, G-A!!

The Annual Staff Is On The Tracks of Success

This year's annual staff, led by Editor-in-Chief Lainie Bogoslawsky, began working on the book last spring, and their efforts have paid off. The business staff, led by Advisor Miss. Deloach and Business Manager Jeff Byas, has organized sales, both book and patron, to give the staff more capitol than ever before. The staff has taken great pains to spend the money to benefit the interests of the DFA students. This year's book has more color, more pages, and we think more professional layouts. The staff is striving to become a professional, self-supporting business of and by the students of DFA. New advancements this year alone include the addition of a business manager and a staff photographer, and the purchase of a school camera and computer software for yearbook copy, and the addition of a Journalism class.

The Photo Club is a chemically bonded group with one goal in mind: to develop good black and white pictures. The focus is fixed on good picture-taking and once that is mastered, experimental techniques are learned. The darkroom can get crowded, but with a little enlarging, we manage.

Solid Gold

Middle School Student Council

Davidson's Middle School Student Council is truly solid gold! The middle school students have shown their maturity and dedication in their hard work of organizing activities for their fellow schoolmates. They've contributed to Davidson by having the school's grade colors made into hall banners, and they've held a dance to raise money for UNICEF, plus many other activities. We salute you, Middle School Student Council.

The High School Student Council of 87-88 was off to a great start before this year's school term began. During the summer, members held meetings to plan special activities for DFA students and faculty in addition to focusing on ways to make DFA even better than last year. They assisted teachers in their pre-planning days and welcomed new students via phone calls. They've also written a new Constitution plus organized the talent show for UNICEF. Thanks student council and Mrs. Handley.

The John S. Davidson Choral groups are some of the most demanded performing arts groups in Augusta. Under the direction of Kitty Lamb and the accompaniment of Anne Arrington, the choruses have performed all over the C.S.R.A. Our Mixed Chorus is well known all over Augusta. They have performed at such places as Sacred Heart and the Partridge Inn. This year they staged two productions: The All American Revue in the fall and Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" in March of 1988. These shows draw people from all around Augusta to our school. The Treble Chorus and the Glee Club are made up of all unchanged voices, which breed an original and beautiful sound. This past year the Treble Chorus has delighted Augustans with their performances. They have performed many places including the Elizabethan Fayre at Augusta College. The Glee Club, a new addition to Davidson's Choral department, has stolen the hearts of many throughout the city. This year they were featured in the Augusta Opera's production of "Payliacci."

The Davidson Drama Club is here to meet the needs of students of Drama through club programs and guest speakers and productions. The Thespian Troupe #3782 is a vital nucleus of the Drama Club. Troupe members attended statewide meetings and conferences. The main performing group of Davidson is JD and Company or The Advanced Acting class. In October we presented The Night Thoreau Spent In Jail in honor of the 200th anniversary of the Constitution. We took our version of Canterbury Tales to the Georgia Theatre Conference in November, where Christian Stracke was named a member of the GTC All Star cast. Later that month we won first place in Region one-act play competition with Canterbury Tales. Tonya Dixon and Christian Stracke were named best Actress and Best Actor for the Region. We will be competing in State AAA on Dec. 4th in Valdosta. An evening of one-acts is in the planning for January to be followed by the Drama and Dance Dessert Theatre in early February. Our next full-length is to be the fantasy Ondine in March. The final shows of the year will be a repertory session of *M*A*S*H* by Advanced Acting and Dirty Work At The Crossroads by Acting I.

Front: M. McMillon, K. Perrin, Mrs. Martin, Coach. Back: H. Richter, H. Martin, M. Bennett, N. Welcher, T. Williams, K. Welcher, Q. Salzman, K. Adams, B. Hunter.

Although relatively new to Davidson, the track team with the help of Coach Cindy Martin and with the help of parent Mrs. Sykes, the team is progressing with leaps and bounds. To accomodate the situation at Davidson, the track team is open to both middle schoolers and high school students alike, although they compete against different schools.

The 1987-88 Track team showed many improvements from the previous track teams. Melissa McMillon placed in all four track meets in the high jump and placed fourth in the district. Interest in middle school track greatly improved with more members than ever before. The 1987-88 track team should be very impressive when most middle school runners graduate to varsity and junior varsity track teams.

The 1987-88 Cross Country team consisted of Lisa Kitchens, a senior, who showed great courage running against other schools with many more runners. She placed fourteenth in the district Cross Country meet.

Arabian Nights

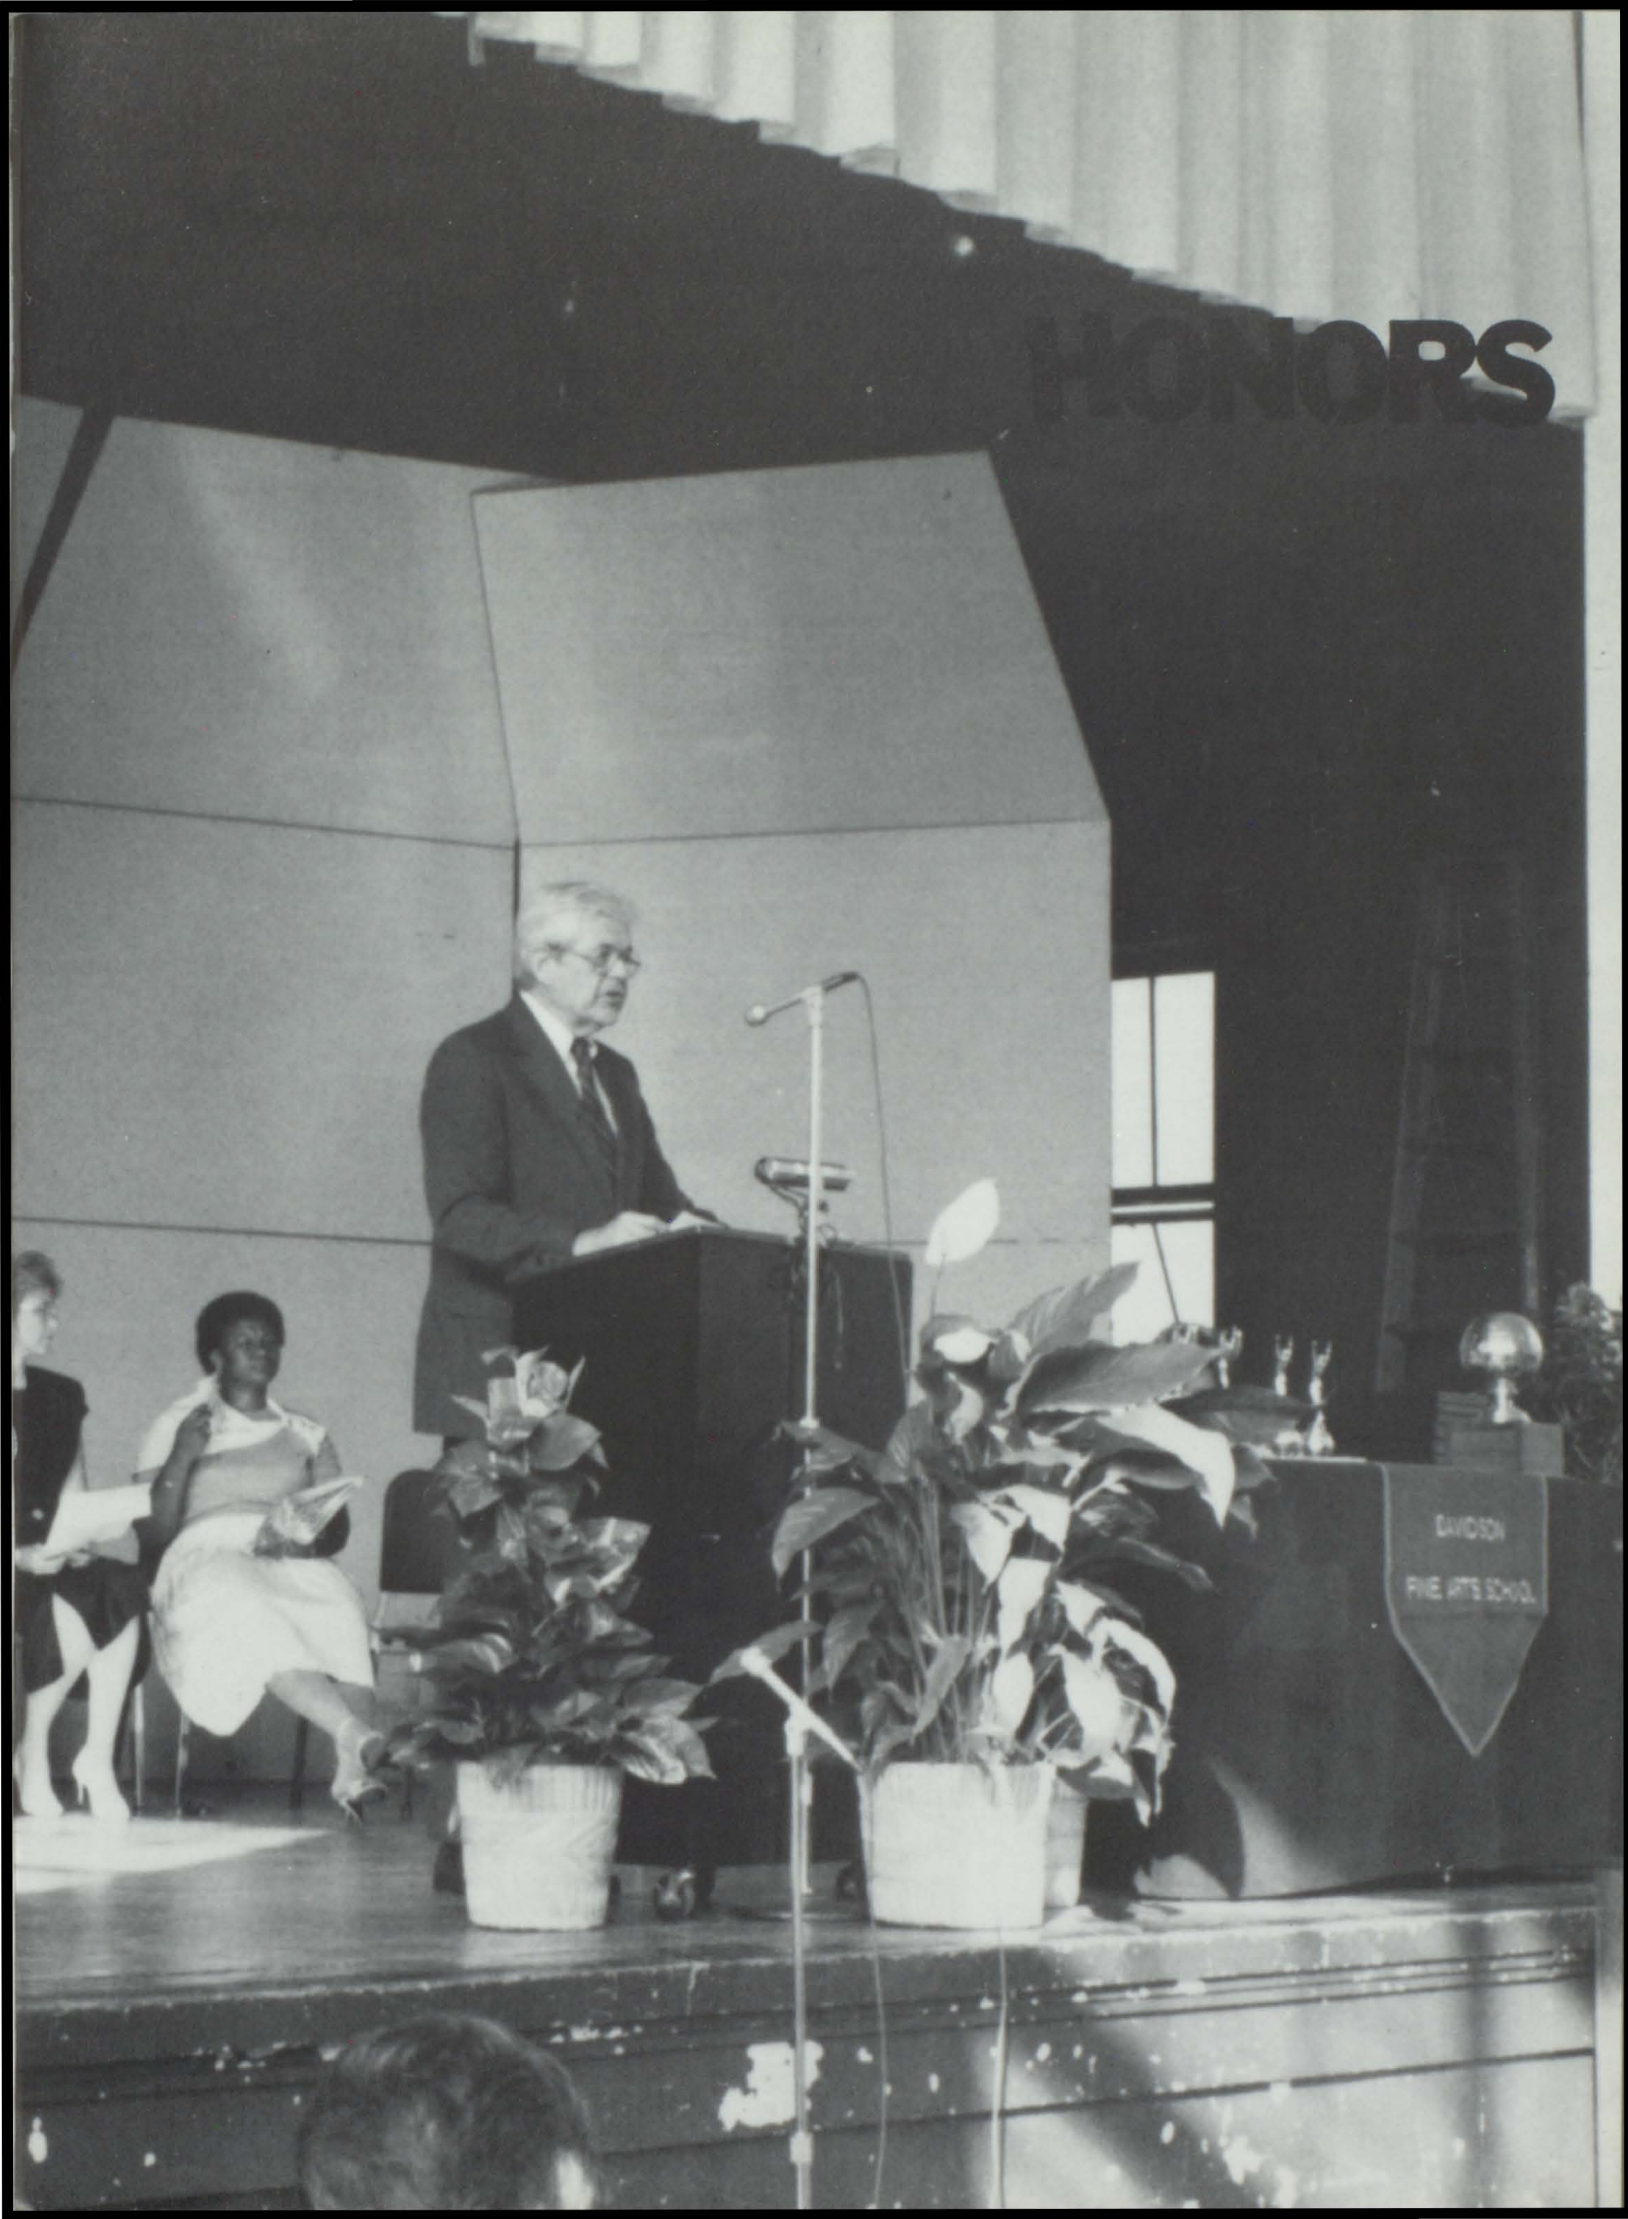

On the night of May 16, 1987, the Class of 1988 successfully pulled off a small miracle known as the Junior-Senior Prom. Somehow, someway, 50 glittered stars, 100 yards of cloth, 25 card tables, two-thirds of a camel, 25 bamboo snakes in 25 straw baskets, lumber, nails, 15 potted plants, and a milk crate containing algebra notebooks all came together to produce the enchanting setting for "Arabian Nights." All of this came to pass after the collecting of 96% of the class dues and gaining profits from "the sophomore class show," 253 dozen doughnuts, 611 green carnations, one dessert theatre, and the "Extort a Teacher," weell the "Lucky Teacher" contest. It was a fun year and a half of preparation and the culmination of it all will remain a fond memory for years to come. Thanks for your hard work, Class of 88!

The Governor's Honors Program selection process is a lengthy one which involves numerous steps. Students are first nominated by subject area teachers. They then are tested, auditioned, and interviewed at the local level. After local nominations are announced, the students go through the state level selection process which is very similar to the local level steps. State Governor's Honors Program finalists are announced in April. The program is held at Valdosta State College each year during the summer.

 LOVE, Your Mom, Dad, Dena, and Grandmother

Cass,
 This was your favorite outfit when you were three — royal blue poncho, plaid dress, white stockings, and bright red boots. Nothing could change your mind about wearing this outfit day after day. You had cut your own hair, and when you were tired of it, you pulled your poncho back over your forehead, and spent hours with royal blue yarn hair. We thought this was just a phase you would grow out of, but ... Your hair and dress are just a small part of the very special YOU that looks at life in such a unique and colorful way. You have remained true to what you feel, and we love you for this. We’re especially grateful to Davidson, and your fine teachers, who have allowed you to be you, and to expand and develop your talents.
 Mom, Dad, and Peter

To Gary —

When you were born — We knew you were special. You are an achiever — from toys to school books — to manhood — you always seemed to know your way. Know that our love follows you today and always. Keep your faith in God and follow those dreams.

Who Says Work Can't Be Fun . . .

It's that time of year again to wrap up 1987-88. The last pages are typed, the last pictures are cropped and the last deadline is met. It's time to thank all those who pulled hair, chewed nails, grumbled under their breath, sold ads, stretched for creativity, typed, drew, took pictures, figured money, withstood tempers, ate cold pizza, made calls, wrote copy, and all the wonderfully painful activities that are associated with the yearbook. Every year, students are spotlighted as having done work above and beyond . . . Well this year, so many students worked to and past what was expected, that it was impossible to single any one person out. This year's staff has been a true staff. They were given assignments and criteria and produced organized, thematic sections. Each section, whether the Senior, Classes or Faculty follows the theme of the book, yet has its own personality. Christine and Dena worked well together on Faculty. Dena drew layouts and Christine typed on the computer. Sutton really pulled things together on the Student section, a new addition this year with help from Andrea (who grudgingly posed for pictures), DeAun and Cass (we love your Pee Wee page). The Class section was organized and executed by Andrea with help from Leonard, DeAunn, and Hope. And you Seniors are lucky to have Lisa, Annette, and Toni working so diligently to make your book the best yet. Our Clubs and Activities sections knows just how busy all of you are. Do you know how long it took Rolanda, Tonya, Rose and Dawn to count faces in all those chorus and band pictures?! Special thanks to Rolanda who worked on every section that I begged her to. And thanks to Paul who gave up lunch and his pride to poke his camera in people's faces for those special shots. Of course, none of this could have been possible without the money to pay for it all. Whenever we wanted to expand — add more pages, put in more color — Miss Deloach said, “Go for it.” And we did. Thanks to Jeff who organized, Alex who computerized, and William who prioritized, the money was there. Todd spent weekends laying out the business and senior ads, and Debbie spent weekends keeping up with Lainie. Quite frankly, a yearbook is only as good as the staff that produces it. Thankfully it was lead out by one level headed young lady who made sure layouts were done, copy was proofed, pixes were not thrown onto layouts and tempers were kept cool. Thanks, Miss Lainie. What a crew! Oh well .

When I took on the job of Editor less than five months ago, I must admit, I didn't know what I was getting myself into. There were many frustrating times when I was ready to literally take a match to some of these pages, but seeing the result, I'm sure you'll agree that it was all worth it. There are so many people who contributed to the publication of this work of art. Without these people you might not have seen this annual until next year.

TO THE STAFF: Y'all are incredible! I know how many times each of you just wanted to choke me, but look what you've done! You should be very proud of yourselves. Twenty years from now you can look back and show your children this book and laugh. Never forget the good times we had. Thank you for your hard work and dedication.

TO MRS. BARNHART: You were always there for the staff when we had our "picture problems." I appreciate all the times you picked up the phone when things got out of hand. Thanks, we couldn't have done it without you.

TO TERRI WALKER: We made it! All the late nights at school and at your apartment really paid off (needless to say Pizza Hut appreciated the extra business). Thank you for everything: the opportunity, your support and your friendship. I'll always remember the fun times we had (the Christmas tree, Applebee's, GO DAWGS!), but just because this annual is finished, I know our crazy friendship isn't. Give me a call — we'll do lunch! I love ya!

TO DAN WOSCHITZ & JOHN PARKER: Thanks for understanding and bearing with me as my first (and last) year as editor. I know how "unpleased" you were with me at times, but you were both there to answer my every question. Thank you.

TO MISS DeLOACH: You did one heck of a job as financial advisor. (I know it put Miss Walker's mind to rest.) I appreciate your help on the intro. as well as on coping with the problems that come along with the title. Thank you.

TO DEBBIE KEMP: You've been like my "co-editor" this year. Thanks for the nights and weekends (especially THAT weekend) that you helped me with the Intro. while you could have been "out-on-the-town". This annual will always be special, because it is what brought our very special friendship together.

(Additional thanks to . . . Mrs. Claxton for allowing us to use her computer, Kit Rogers for taking pictures, and Soo Yeon Kim for the fabulous artwork.)

There is a quote that I feel sums up this year:

"Our memories of yesterday will last a lifetime.
We'll take the best
Forget the rest
And someday we'll find . . .
These are the best of times."
