Classroom Expectations

- Respect your classmates, your teacher, and the equipment. This includes not talking while the teacher (or presenter) is talking and using appropriate language at all times.
- Clean up after yourself. This includes pushing your chair in before you leave the classroom.
- There are no phones allowed in the classroom. If I see it, I will turn it in to the office and a parent will have to pick it up.
- The computers are only to be used for school-related work.
- Be on time. When you come in, log in to your computer and respond to the bellringer on Schoology.
- No eating in class or drinking at the computers. Only water is allowed in the classroom.
- All work must be original. Cheating and plagiarism will result in a 0.
- All work will be submitted on time. This is a fast-paced class, and it can be difficult to catch up if you get behind. You will lose 10 points per day (including days I do not see you) that your work is late. If there is a conflict that may keep you from submitting your work on time, let me know BEFORE the due date.
- Overall, I expect you take responsibility for your work and your behavior, no excuses. Be honest when you forget to do something, apologize when you're wrong, and always behave in a way that will make your parents proud.

Consequences for violating class rules will be handled in the following order:

1. Verbal warning
2. Silent lunch and/or parent contact
3. Referral

The order and type of consequences depends on the severity and nature of a violation.*
