

Word lists for Phoneme Segmentation Fluency

3 and 4 Phonemes

By The Reading Bungalow

These word lists are perfect for your small RTI groups or to use whole group as you are practicing PSF skills before you administer the DIBELS test!

I use these word cards every day in my small reading groups. I was trying to come up with words on the spot while I was teaching and I found I was coming up with the same words every day, so I made these small lists to fit in my box of teaching materials that sits in the middle of my reading group table.

As you can see in the picture, I use an array of materials to help the kids understand phoneme segmentation. Each of the hands on materials is used in the same way. Basically you give the students the manipulative and then give them a word and they point to each sticker, cube or bead as they say each sound in the word. My students really seem to love the beads because they can actually move the beads as they say each sound.
