2.6 Data Analysis Questions

Analyze the LEA's data and answer the guiding questions to determine existing trends and patterns that support the identification of demographic and financial needs. Student subgroups with a count of less than 15 are denoted by "TFS" (too few students).

What perception data did you use? [examples: student perceptions about school climate issues (health survey, violence, prejudice, bullying, etc.); student/parent perceptions about the effectiveness of programs or interventions; student understanding of relationship of school to career or has an academic plan]	Our team used the GA Health Survey, USHA Data, GMAS Data for Spring 2024, Infinite Campus Reports, Guidance Department Survey, Student Survey Data.

What does the perception data tell you? (perception data can describe people's knowledge, attitudes, beliefs, perceptions, competencies; perception data can also answer the question "What do people think they know, believe, or can do?")	The perception data tells me that students feel safe overall in school and that they are placed in an environment where they feel that they can succeed. The data also tells me that there is still work to be done in the area of strengthening relationships between teachers and students to help reduce stress linked to individual student's academic progress.

What process data did you use? (examples: student participation in school activities, sports, clubs, arts; student participation in special programs such as peer mediation, counseling, skills conferences; parent/student participation in events such as college information meetings and parent workshops)	We used student participation data in activities, clubs, arts and skills conferences.

What does the process data tell you? (process data describes the way programs are conducted; provides evidence of participant involvement in programs; answers the question "What did you do for whom?")	The process data tells me that although progress has been made, students welcome the addition of more activities to participate in at school.

What achievement data did you use?	GMAS, SAT/ACT, AP.

What does your achievement data tell you?	The achievement data tells me that Content Mastery is still a major area of concern in order to increase student achievement. Instructional planning and delivery must also be monitored and supported in order to improve this area. SAT/ACT data tells me that a change in instructor may be needed in order to increase participation and academic success on the SAT/ACT.

What demographic data did you use?	Infinite Campus and USHA Data.
------------------------------------	--------------------------------

What does the demographic data tell you?	The demographic data tells me that achievement levels are consistent across demographics.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Coherent Instructional: Summarize the coherent instructional system trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Analysis of Spring 2024 GMAS data indicates that there is still room for growth in academic achievement in the Proficient and Distinguished categories. This observation suggests that there is still a need to establish SIP goals geared towards the delivery of research-based instructional strategies designed to increase student learning. Student classroom academic data and standardized test data are not completely aligned.
Effective Leadership: Summarize the effective leadership trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Data indicates that Leadership needs to be more consistent in coupling electronic instructional feedback (i.e. eWalk) with in-person meetings to discuss observations.
Professional Capacity: Summarize the professional capacity trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Data suggests that leadership consistently provided support, resources and professional learning opportunities during the 2023-2024 school year. In order to increase the number of students scoring in the Proficient and above category on Spring 2025 standardized assessments, support will continue to be offered during the upcoming school year.
Family and Community Engagement: Summarize the family and community engagement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Analysis of Spring 2024 GMAS data shows that although parent engagement opportunities and events at RCTCM increased during the previous school year, additional sessions placing emphasis on "content specific parental support" must be provided at Curriculum Nights during the 2024-2025 school year.
